Worst over for Chain

by THOMAS STEVENS

Lakeland Newspapers

The Chain O' Lakes Fox River Waterway Agency hopes the drier weather patterns seen lately will be the breaking point of a stalled weather system that has caused the heavy rainfall totals of June and early July.

Waterway Executive Director Karen Kabbes said the Chain waters are actually rising despite some very nice days last week.

"We have had some heavy rain in central and northern Wisconsin which has caused the Chain to rise again," said Kabbes. "We think the system will be able to absorb the increase if it doesn't rain too much, too fast."

The agency is monitoring the situation daily and as of Lakeland Newspapers press deadline, the Chain system was open to regular boating traffic, with a 150-foot no-wake zone extended from the shoreline. The Fox River, south of the Stratton Lock and Dam, was open to no-wake traffic only, after being closed to motorized traffic for more than a week.

Agency Chair Dr. William Dam believes the worst is over for the high water of the Chain.

"We're in good shape now," said Dam. "We're over the hump."

Compared with the troubles of the Mississippi River communities, Dam added that the Chain communities could be worse off.

BBQ, auction planned

by MARY FOLEY

Lakeland Newspapers

On August 1 the Antioch Lions Club and Rescue Squad will be sponsoring a BBQ and auction at Williams Park. The auction is scheduled to begin at noon, but plan to get there around 11 a.m. because the chicken will be ready.

Don't let the fact that you have never attended an auction keep you from this one. When you arrive at 11 a.m. you need to sign up and get a bid number. This bid number will be on a paddle. When the auction begins, participants simply raise the paddle if interested in bidding for an item.

The event is a cash auction and items must be paid for in cash that day. The person who casts the highest bid gets the item. Some of the items will be on display at local banks in Antioch.

Some of the more interesting things available include a pig, pizza for a month with two toppings, 4-H beef, 1983 Chevy Impala, a shotgun, lawn mower, 1985 Honda motorcycle, and a processed lamb.

Contributors include Century Oaks Cabinets, First National Bank, Schwind and Sons Greenhouse, Strang Funeral Home, First Chicago Bank, Johnson Jewelers, Pizza Plus, State Bank of Antioch, Raymond Chevy/Olds and many more too numerous to mention.

The auction will be conducted by Herman Behm and Associates, professional auctioneers. All of the items have been donated and the proceeds will go to the all-volunteer Antioch Rescue Squad.

The barbecue is sponsored by the Antioch Lions Club and the proceeds will be used for community service. The menu includes hot dogs, brats, corn-on-the-cob, desserts, refreshments, and of course, chicken. Children's games begin at noon and a raffle will follow the auction.

Lions John Ruffin and Bill Cardiff Sr. are co-chairpersons of the festival.

So, make sure you and your family head out to the chicken barbecue and auction. Williams Park is located off of Main Street in Antioch behind the library. "It is basically a family event," said Tim Osmond 1st Lieutenant of the Antioch Rescue Squad, "there is something for everyone."

Township board supports riverboat, cites benefits

by THOMAS STEVENS

Lakeland Newspapers

The Antioch Township Board voted in favor of the proposed Fox Riverboat Limited Partnership proposal to place a riverboat casino inside the township, despite a non-binding referendum vote against it.

The vote, which authorizes local officials to take all appropriate steps to support and assist the effort to obtain a license from the Illinois Gaming Board, was unanimously in favor of the plan.

"The trustees have placed their support behind this riverboat because we believe it is in the best interests for the community," said Supervisor Jim Fields. "I'm all for anything that will better this township."

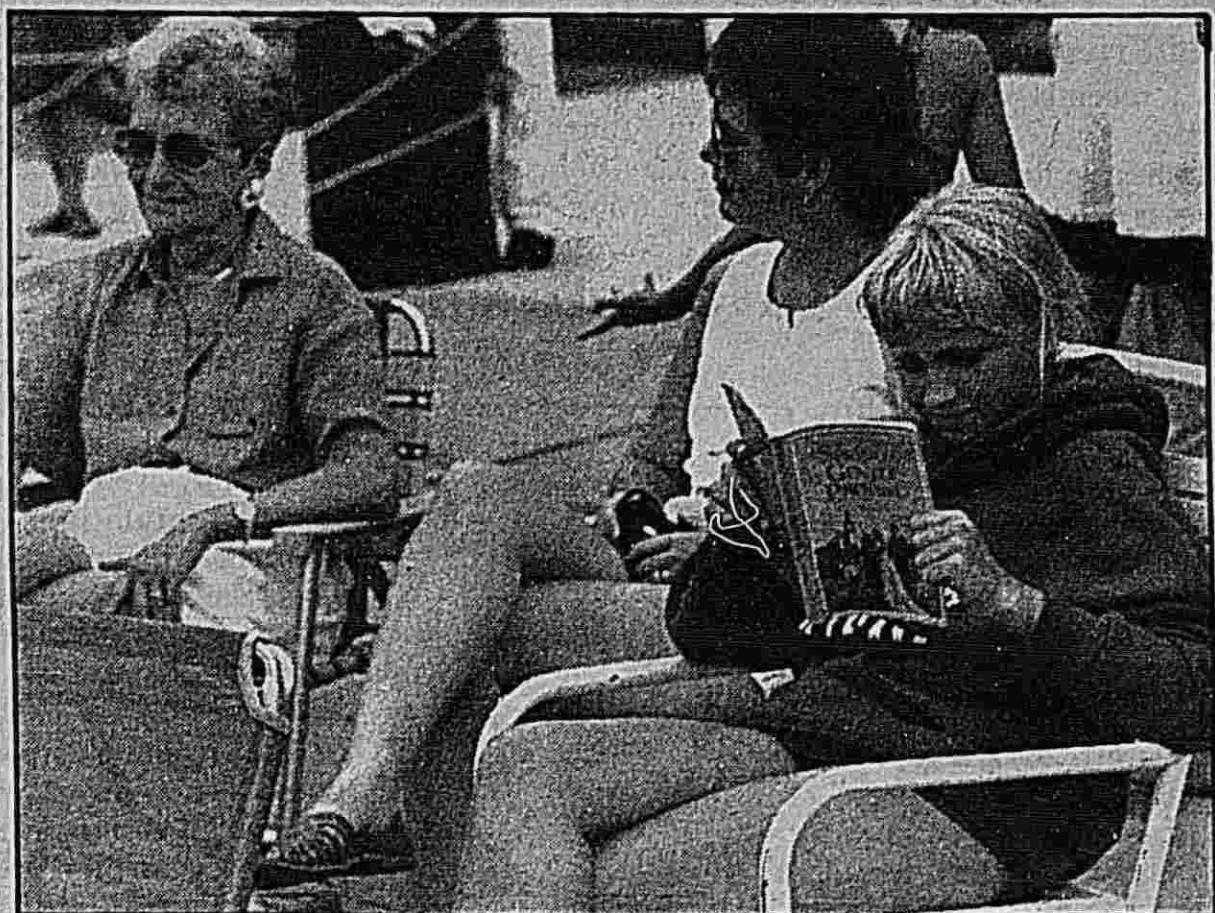

Board members cited the partnership's conceptual plan for saving the natural resources, and the recreational and economic benefits for the township and the County as the main force behind the endorsement.

Another factor, according to Fields, was the partnership's pledge to fund the construction of a $2 million sanitary sewer system that would run from the Fox Lake sewer treatment plant to the riverboat site.

"We appreciate the support of the Antioch Township trustees," said Glenn K. Seidenfeld, Jr., of the Fox Riverboat Limited Partnership. "Antioch Township has registered its support along with the Lake County Board and numerous other governmental and civic organizations who are confident this venture will be an important economic boost for Lake County, particularly the Chain O' Lakes region, and that all 516,000 residents of Lake County will reap the benefits."

County Board Chairman Robert Depke has also pledged, if the gaming commission selected the Antioch site for the last riverboat license, that the board would give $750,000 a year for the first three years to the Chain O' Lakes Fox River Waterway Agency for improvements on the Chain system.

School board members hope to retain seats

by THOMAS STEVENS

Lakeland Newspapers

Antioch area school districts each have four school board members up for election in November's general election, with most of those members expecting to attempt to retain their seats on the board.

The tone of the November 9 election will be set initially with the Antioch Community High School District 117 board, which will have only two of four board members seeking re-election to the board.

ACHS's feeder schools, however, seem to be more stable as most of the board members are expected to file a petition for election by the Aug. 23 deadline.

In Antioch Community School District 34, Superintendent Dr. Donald Skidmore said Secretary Gary Burnette, Bruce Jablonski, Karen Lueck, and Dr. Earl "Bud" Newton have their seats up for election in November. Of those board members, only one seat is expected to remain open for a new board member. Skidmore said one of the board members will probably retire from the board, but said he would not comment on which board member until after the filing deadline.

Grass Lake School District 36 Superintendent Ruth Bill said Secretary Cynthia Marquart, Mary Brausam, Sally Hiller, Elizabeth Schmehl and John Freshman are the board members up for re-election in November and no turn over is expected.

"I'm sure all board members up for election this November plan to file," said Bill. "But you just don't know until the deadline."

Turn over is also unlikely at Emmons School where President Louis Korom, Vice-president Janet Quist, Richard Ruck, and James Koppa are expected to file before the Aug. 23 deadline.

Friends share common roots, Chicago to Antioch

Old Friends

I recently extended a hello via "Hometown Goodies" to Russ Fairchild. Russ is a long-time Antioch resident and writes the traditional "Holiday Stroll." Since I acknowledged Russ in the column, he responded with the following tidbit. Russ tells me he has something extra in common with Ed and Lu Caulfield of Antioch. They also grew up in the Austin area of Chicago, where Russ spent his boyhood.

Ed and Lu are dear friends of Russ's and also members of St. Peter's parish where Ed often sings as a talented vocalist. Russ referred to him as a "Bass Profundo" and truly enjoys hearing his beautiful voice during the masses. Russ, do you also know that Ed and Lu are neighbors of mine right here in Antioch?

I too have a former neighborhood in common with them. Ed and Lu raised their five children in the Norridge area of Chicago, which was walking distance from where my husband and I lived for four years before moving to Antioch in 1968.

So, not only do you and I write the same paper, we are both former neighbors of the Caulfields. Thanks for the tidbit and keep reading.

Beautiful Yard

Bob and Darlene Olenick recently decided some extensive yard work was in order. They went to the Garden Corner in Volo to purchase sod since it was on sale. While there, they filled out an entry blank for a drawing.

About three weeks later, they received a phone call telling them they were winners. Darlene was very happy to hear she would be receiving fifty free tulip bulbs just in time for the fall planting season. However, when she learned they also won the grand prize of $1,000 worth of custom landscaping, she was doubly overjoyed.

Congratulations on your big win and it sounds like your already beautiful yard will soon be even prettier.

Share Food

Money doesn't grow on trees. Save money on your grocery bill each month by participating in the SHARE Food Program sponsored by the Exchange Club of Antioch.

Participating in SHARE is as easy as one, two three. (1) Sign up at a registration site and pay $15, (2) Volunteer at least two hours of community work each month, and (3) pick up your food at the designated location.

Incidentally, your $15 buys $35 worth of groceries. You can register at the State Bank of Antioch, both facilities,

First National Bank of Antioch and at the Lake Villa Township Office.

The delivery location is the Antioch VFW Memorial Hall located at 75 North Ave. in Antioch. The pick up time is from 10 to 10:30 a.m. Future share pick up dates are Aug. 14, Sept. 11, Oct. 9, Nov. 6 and Dec. 14. Gas Bandit

A short while ago, Marie Brausam stopped at a local, self-service gas station. She pumped the gas into the tank of her van and also some into a can for her lawn mower. Meanwhile a couple of her friends drove up to fill up their vehicles and Marie started to chat with them.

After a short time, she went merrily on her way to run a few more errands. As she went to pay for her merchandise in another store, and had more money than she expected, she realized she forgot to pay for her $15 gas purchase. As she was on her way back to the station, her imagination took over.

Surely the gas station alerted the police and they would have the place surrounded waiting to nab "the gas bandit." She pulled off the road at a pay phone and called ahead telling them she realized her mistake and was on her way in with the "moola." Naturally the gas station appreciated her honesty and Marie was equally as happy not to spend the summer in the slammer.

Friend or Foe

If you read "Hometown Goodies" on a regular basis, you may recall my stories of my orphaned raccoon babies. I raised three little coons about 2 1/2 years ago and when they were old enough, we released them to the wild in the woods of our Eagle River home. During many return visits, they came out of the woods to feed and visit with us, squelching our worries about their survival.

It has been about one year since we have spotted any of them and I often wonder how they are doing. During a recent trip, one of them came to the feeder about 2 a.m. When I noticed the activity at the feeder, I switched on the deck light and when the creature remained, I assumed it was one of our babies, now full grown.

I collected some cookies and walked close to the feeder knowing a strange coon would immediately scurry away. I placed the cookies on the deck railing, close by and talked softly to the coon while doing so. He or she ducked further into the feeder, but made no attempt to leave. I went back inside and watched from the window believing once again that one of my little ones had come by to offer reassurance of its survival. Life is good!

Fen walk promises fun for nature buffs

by ALEC JUNG
Lakeland Newspapers

See Lake County as the first Americans saw it 10,000 years ago.

You have opportunity to see wilderness untouched by man at Fourth Lake Fen, a 248 acre forest preserve located south of Grand Ave. At Sand Lake Rd. There will be a nature walk and a talk about the area from the glacial period to the present.

Interested people can meet on July 24 at the Pizza Hut at Grand Ave. and Sand Lake Rd. The walk is about one mile in length and will be from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m.

"They will see aquatic plants Joe Pie Weed, and Bonesat," said Scott Brissey, site steward. "They can see Sedgen grasses and russes. The birds they will see is the Yellow Throat, and Redguren; birds you won't see anywhere else."

Brissey said at times during the walk people will "float" over roots where there is little soil.

"It is where the soil buckles under and you float on top of live and dead roots by several plants and decomposed matter and the ground layer is under your feet; it's very squishy," Brissey said.

Bring a camera, binoculars and a magnifying glass to capture the unique plant and animal life. Wear old tennis shoes or boots.

You will get your feet wet. Bring a hat because it is out in the open. A long sleeve shirt and long pants are recommended.

The walk is sponsored by the Nature Conservancy, a national organization dedicated to preserving habitat for migrating birds.

Brissey said the organization in Lake County trains volunteers and puts on workshops.

Fortune Hunt winner

No decision on riverboat

by MARK PAIN
Lakeland Newspapers

During the regular meeting of the Spring Grove village board, acting village President Carol Kramer prefaced the proposed Antioch Riverboat Casino issue with carefully chosen words.

"We have to choose our fights very wisely," Kramer said. "We sympathize with Antioch voters (a reference to the non-binding November referendum) and understand that the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency and Army Corps of Engineers must be involved . . . I am familiar with the river. The site is narrow, shallow and goes by wetlands; I would be surprised, if permission were given to progress with this project."

A decision had to be made by the village board, whether to approve, deny or take no action on the subject of a Riverboat Casino complex near the village limits.

The discussion was opened to members of the audience not on the agenda, when C. Searle Wadley of ARC (Against Riverboat Casinos) was acknowledged by the board.

"I only ask you to consider this, for Spring Grove...consider the situation very selfishly. There will be a major traffic problem on Rte. 173," Wadley summarized, "the congestion will come in waves, as each excursion ends. There is also the problem of drinking on board and by logical intuition, these people will be driving on county roads. The potential is mind-boggling for trouble and vehicle mishaps. They must go to the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency and then, the Army Corps of Engineers for approval. The people, who are striving for this approval, must have something known only to them . . . with the talent and money thrown at the controlling powers, they must have more than a strong belief."

It was stressed that on the 20th of July, the Illinois Gaming Board would decide on which group gets the go-ahead for their respective projects. Of the proposed sites only Elgin, West Dundee, Moline and Antioch remain as viable candidates for the final approval.

Trustee Mark Eisenberg was concerned. "There will be no tax benefits or other increments to benefit this village."

Speaking for the Fox Lake Riverboat LP, was William Scott.

"An agreement has been reached between McHenry and Lake Counties for impact fees from the developers," Scott countered, "Mr. Wadley has placed before you a resolution to veto and deny our project. The Village of Richmond was presented with the same resolution and voted 5 to 1 not to approve it. I concur that there may be very little tax money for Spring Grove, but the offset comes with jobs and more local purveyors."

Scott also stated that improvements to the site (Fox River Recreation Campground) would be absorbed by the developers, not the county.

Scott concluded, "We'll be putting in sewers and other improvements at a cost of $2.5 million dollars . . . again, all from developer shares of the profit. However, if you're against this on a moral consideration, there is nothing I can say."

The village board voted to take no action on the issue, either to approve or disapprove.

Scott was asked if the decision for a no action vote was a tacit approval for the project, he replied, "It helps us."

Wadley was vehement in response, "Politicians do not wish to offend a large majority of the population, so if they take no stand to avoid a confrontation, then they can sit on the fence."

Weber wins gold medals

Marianne Weber, representing the Lindenhurst Special Recreation Association, won five gold medals during the Illinois Special Olympic Powerlifting Competition in Normal. Weber was best in the bench press and deadlift, as well as several other categories.

Registration has begun for the Lindenhurst SRA's summer program season.

Highlights include a variety of Saturday programs and the annual poolside dance party. The Lindenhurst SRA provides recreational programs for people who need special assistance and staff not provided in park district programs in Lindenhurst, Lake Villa and Antioch. For additional information, call Bruce Barrett at 356-6011.

Five new teachers for Grass Lake

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

Things are running smoothly at Grass Lake School District 36 despite the lack of noise usually heard through the school's hallways.

"Things move at a different pace during the summer," said Superintendent Dr. Ruth Bill. "It is still busy, but things are different compared to the school year."

Bill added the school's staff will have a new look this fall as five new teachers begin their careers at Grass Lake.

"We only created one new position," said Bill. "The other new teachers will replace teachers who left the school for other jobs."

The first day of school will be Aug. 23 when the teachers arrive for an institute day. The children arrive on Aug. 24 for the "real" start of school year, in the eyes of area parents.

"It will be here before we know it," said Bill.

Limited Partnership have to contend with the other applicants for the license, but it faces stiff opposition from various local groups opposed to riverboat gambling.

Time will be scheduled for presentations "for" and "against" the various casino locations at the meeting. Representatives from ARC (Against Riverboat Casinos) are planning to attend.

"We have a very interesting, we hope, five minute presentation to convince the board to select a different site," said Kurt Gamlin of ACR. "We don't know to what extent the will of the people factors into their decision," said Gamlin, referring to the April referendum vote. However, according to Gamlin, "One board member said that the Antioch vote was significant."

Roy Sackschewsky, another ARC representative is expected to give the presentation for ARC. "We do plan to make the board aware of what is going on in Lake County," said Sackschewsky. "Hopefully the government will function to support its citizens."

On a related issue, no action was taken on the petition presented by Carol Riska to the Antioch Township Board. In anticipation of the granting of the final license to Fox Riverboat, the petition contained suggestions for the use of potential tax income from the riverboat casino.

Casino partners promise sewers for river district

Modern sanitation was held out to Fox River residents in Antioch Township as an incentive for their support of casino gambling riverboats in front of their homes.

Homeowners of Fox River Springs Subdivision were promised an opportunity to hook on to the riverboat dock sewer system at a meeting Wednesday night at Bridgeport Tavern, Rte. 173.

Spokesman for the partnership promoting two casino boats for the Fox River said support of subdivision residents is crucial for their final presentation to the Illinois Gaming Board Tuesday, July 20. One of four applicants will be issued a license after the hearing.

There are 62 homes in the subdivision.

Bud Scott, representing the riverboat partnership, said the sewer offer is a golden opportunity to end septic problems and pollution.

The Fox River partners are prepared to invest $1.7 million to tie in to the Tall Oaks treatment works off Grass Lake Rd. that is part of the North West Regional Sanitary System. At the same time, they said they will pay the $250,000 cost of running an interceptor sewer to serve subdivision residents.

Riverboat advocates have been working on promoting expressions of support for Antioch Township location to the gaming board. Scott said the response has been encouraging.

Lead

There are many things residents can do to reduce their lead exposure. "Any time water has not been used for six hours or longer, run the water until it is as cold as it will get," advises Sharma. "For example, let the water run when you wake up in the morning after sleeping all night."

"When both the husband and wife work, please let your water run when you return home," Sharma suggests. He emphasizes that hot water should never be used for human consumption. "Use only cold water for drinking, cooking and especially preparing baby formula."

Residents living outside the Village of Antioch should also follow these rules. It is immaterial whether your water comes from wells or a public supply if there is lead in the pipes. This is a common problem with older homes.

However, newer homes may not be completely safe. "Even newer homes that have copper pipes may still have lead soldering," Sharma warns. "Homes with fancy faucets should also flush the lines." According to Sharma, some of those beautiful bronze faucets can be dangerous.

Lead poisoning is one of the leading causes of brain damage in children. There is some controversy about what is a safe level for children. Some authorities believe that lower levels of lead, insufficient to cause obvious illness, may nevertheless be damaging to children.

As required by law, an informational brochure will be distributed to customers. But, in the meantime, it is always a good idea to follow the advice of the experts.

Letter to the Editor

Phantom survey

Editor:

I have just finished reading the printed results of what was called the "parents survey," which asked parents for feedback in resolving the district's money and growth problems of Dist. 117 and I am furious!

They claim to have distributed surveys to 16,000 households. I do not know of anyone who received one and we pick up mail from two Lake Villa post office boxes. Also, why did just parents receive them? And the amount sent as 16,000?

We have lived our lifetime in either Antioch or Lake Villa and have owned our property. We graduated from AHS, our children graduated from AHS and most of our grandchildren graduated from AHS, and soon some of our great-grandchildren will attend

ACHS. Don't we as taxpayers have a right after 50 plus years to an opinion or suggestion? It seems to me if 16,000 surveys were sent out, most box holders in Lake Villa, Lindenhurst and Antioch should have received one.

I want also to add I am a former school board member of many years in Dist. 41 and I assure you I do understand school board duties and responsibilities, even though I have been a senior citizen for many years.

I would like to ask the school board of Dist. 117 how they can, in all fairness, begin to discuss recommendations at their next meeting on July 22 when this survey was not sent to all Dist. 117 households?

Millburn school board may take on new look

by ALEC JUNGE
Lakeland Newspapers

The Millburn District 24 school board elections will be coming up in November and the board may have some new faces.

Of the board members that were contacted, none of them has said they will definitely run again and one said it is doubtful she will run again. There are four seats are up for re-election.

Board vice president Kathleen Fendel said it is doubtful that she would run again and President Jeffrey Zaloudek said he is unsure if he is going to go for re-election.

"It is very doubtful I will run again," said Fendel. "I am contemplating moving from the area."

Fendel said she enjoyed serving on the board and will continue to do so until she moves or her term is up.

Zaloudek is undecided but said it is unlikely he will serve another four-year term.

"I have not decided one way or another," Zaloudek said. "I would like to spend more time with my family."

Both board members agreed the main issues will be residential growth and funding. The pace of new development and the amount of state aid will have major impact on board policy.

"The issue in growth is will the district have to add another facility. We are kind of fortunate now with the slowdown in the economy. It allows us to catch our breath a little bit," Zaloudek said.

Zaloudek said there have been housing developments approved which could increase enrollment from 250-350 students in the next 5-10 years.

Both Zaloudek and Fendel were critical of state funding of local education.

"We don't have a good property tax base because most of our district is residential. The delays in Springfield hurts us because the assessment taxes residents to the hilt and going back and asking for more money from them is unpalatable," Zaloudek said.

Board members Sandy O'Donnell and Thomas Erlenborn are also up for re-election. They were unavailable for comment.

For those who wish to run for the school board, petitions must be in by the end of August.

Under a Village of Antioch loan program, area businesses affected by these proposals could obtain financing. The village is proposing to subsidize personal loan interest rates up to as much as 5 percent, where available.

The planning and zoning board voted to continue the petition to amend the plan, with a rehearing date scheduled on July 29 at 7:30 p.m. However, a motion to recommend to the Antioch Village Board to extend Orchard Street to Depot Street was passed. Demolition is scheduled in August.

Joint land plan can stop uncontrolled growth

by JACK TINDALL

In many areas between town and villages, the development of property for commercial and other uses appear to be random and uncontrolled. Two factors contribute to this:

1. Typically, the properties in question are unincorporated Lake County land, or are properties on the edge of a municipality. The property owners are motivated to develop their properties to maximize the value, and rightly so. Usually this means they will ask to rezone their properties for office/research, industrial, commercial or the highest possible residential density (the smallest lots and thus the largest number of lots that can be sold.)

2. Property owners will ask the county and nearby municipalities for the most advantageous zoning they can get. If necessary they will disconnect a property from one municipality so that it can be annexed to another, regardless of the original comprehensive zoning plan of the county, a village, or a town. Municipalities are tempted to bid (make zoning concessions) for the opportunity to annex the property to be developed. The municipality offering the best zoning "deal" gets the property, the development that follows, and its tax revenues. The result is often a checkerboard pattern of development, irregular borders between municipalities, endless rush-hour traffic jams due to inadequate roads, and unwanted, uncontrolled development opposed by the majority of the citizens in the area.

Can uncontrolled development be stopped? Yes, it can. A new state law addresses the problem. If the citizens of the affected areas and the elected representatives take advantage of recently passed Illinois legislation, the Local Land Resource Management Planning Act (Chapter 50 ILCS 805), reasoned planning can become a reality. Here's how it works.

The representatives of two or more villages and towns sit down together to plan for a future development of an unincorporated area between them. First, they would determine the future boundary between the municipalities. Such a boundary would divide up unincorporated properties for probable future annexation by the municipalities. Next, they would develop a zoning plan that would cover all types of commercial and residential zoning within the plan area. They could also identify potential open space properties in the planning area and contact the Forest Preserve District or others and promote its acquisition.

Lake County planners have expressed endorsement of the local land management concept. They should participate in the planning phase of the local planning group. Later, the Lake County Board should rezone the unincorporated Lake County property to match the zoning of the new Local Land Resource Management Plan.

There is good reason for the county to approve a local plan, because a local municipality, through objection, automatically forces a 3/4 vote of the County Board in order to overrule that objection.

Only once in the last 15 to 20 years has the objection of a municipality been overruled by the County Board on a significant zoning issue. It makes sense for the county to turnover the zoning of properties between municipalities to the local management plan, since through their objections the municipalities basically control it already. By endorsing and joining local land management plans, the county can remove itself from the constant hassle of zoning battles over each parcel of unincorporated property in the more urbanized areas of the county.

Will it actually work? We will soon know. Lake Forest, Mettawa, and Lincolnshire (LML) are currently developing a local land resource management plan and boundary agreement that should be in place before the year end. The planning area is approximately bounded by Route 176 to the north, Waukegan Road on the east, Route 22 on the south, and the Des Plaines River to the west.

There is agreement by the three municipalities on zoning and boundaries. As soon as the plan is ratified by the three municipalities, Lake County will be asked (Continued on next page)

Golden opportunity

Public lands bond issue has good chance of passing, but for how much?

Commissioners of the Lake County Forest Preserve Dist. are taking a decidedly more conservative and cautious approach to drafting a November referendum to raise funds for the purchase of more open space.

That's good and not so good.

The good part is that the commissioners not only are coming down on the side of prudence, but at the same time they appear to be genuinely interested in making progress toward further acquisition of public lands to add to the approximately 19,000 acres the county already controls. That was not exactly the case two years ago when a $45 million proposition for further land acquisition narrowly went down to defeat, partly because commissioners were timid about going to the taxpayers to ask for money.

The not so good part is that the district might be selling the program for public lands acquisition short by not going for a maximum amount, similar to the 1991 proposition that attracted surprising support.

In our estimation, there is a prevailing mood for acquisition of more forest preserve land. Voters sense that there is a golden opportunity at hand to acquire more open space during the middle 1990's, especially since the Illinois General Assembly has flashed the greenlight for construction of the controversial Rte. 53 extension as a tollway through central Lake County. That project will trigger an unprecedented surge of growth along the Rte. 53 corridor that likely will stagger the imagination of even growth and development enthusiasts.

The question confronting commissioners in setting a practical figure, one that Dist. President Colin McRae (R-Mundelein) says "has a good chance of passage," is whether to capitalize on political and economic conditions or come down on the practical side of orchestrating a victory. McRae has spoken of an amount less than $25 million as having a good chance of winning voter approval. The measure two years ago was equated with a "candy bar a week" cost so about half that amount might be in the "stick of gum" purchase category.

Whatever amount the commissioners decide upon will have very little impact on the average tax bill. McRae already has positioned the land acquisition measure as an "investment" as opposed to another tax.

Along with the broad based voter support and strategic timing for land acquisition comes an offer from the influential Nature Conservancy, a national open space and land management organization, to run the district's referendum campaign. Al Pyott, director of the organization's Chicago chapter put the November effort in focus: "When you consider the rate of expansion and growth, this is a significant time to acquire land in Lake County." The Nature Conservancy is a volunteer group that operates with private funds.

All of this adds up to a unprecedented opportunity to enhance open space in Lake County. This newspaper is prepared to lend its support for the referendum in November.

Democratic strategy

Process starting to build team to challenge Republicans in 1994.

With their county chairman vowing "no free rides" for Republican office holders, Lake County Democratic leaders are beginning the job of putting together a slate of candidates for the November, 1994, general election. They are operating on the assumption that it's never too early in politics to begin planning for victory.

County Chairman Terry Link outlined a fairly simple strategy. The Democrats aim to assemble a group of quality, qualified candidates for county offices that will be sensitive to environment and open space issues. The Democratic team will be built around popular incumbent County Clerk Linda Hess, who is expected to run for reelection although she has not yet made a formal announcement of candidacy.

The Democrats will select candidates through an interview process open to all. Link promised a full slate. As far as issues are concerned, the chairman is stating that county Democrats can be assured of emphasizing the relationship between Republican leadership and forces promoting rapid growth and development that are reshaping the Lake County landscape, obviously not to everyone's liking.

Count on Democratic candidates to articulate a growth and development strategy of their own that will concentrate on commercial and jobs growth in old line industrial areas like Waukegan and North Chicago. As Link put it, completion of the Amstutz Highway along the lakefront will do more for jobs creation than pushing the northward extension of Rte. 53 through the county's heartland. We'll see.

Grinnell puts imprint on sheriff's office

by BILL SCHROEDER

Considering strategies for success in public office, the best politics is doing a good job.

This is the pathway being followed by Lake County Sheriff Clinton Grinnell, who is on the downward side of his first elected term and in his sixth year in office by virtue of appointment upon the death of the late Robert "Mickey" Babcox.

Grinnell has conducted the pressure-packed, high profile law enforcement position without hint of scandal, something his predecessors seldom were able to do, while putting his personal imprint on the job that accords him the distinction of being the county's No. 1 lawman.

That means the sheriff is more of an Officer Friendly-type, shunning the spotlight, while giving subordinates an opportunity to shine. Grinnell sees himself as the guy responsible for "keeping the store open" and the wheels turning as opposed to a pistol-packing, hell raising sheriff more tuned for prime time watching than practical police work.

Friends and supporters, and the sheriff himself, were stung by a highly paid consultant's report which was critical of the department's arrest record, declaring that Lake County's numbers are nearly half of the national average. The old joke about "Figures don't lie, but liar's figure" was invented for crime statistics.

No less than the former U.S. Attorney for Northern Illinois, Fred Foreman, put the stamp of approval on the way Grinnell has been conducting the sheriff's office. And Foreman added a footnote that Sheriff Grinnell is in good shape politically.

Sheriff Grinnell might have led with his chin by supporting the hiring of the consultant, figuring it was important to get input from an impartial source. That's the kind of person he is. As Foreman put it, "A consultant is always going to find something." In fairness, the consultant gave Grinnell high marks for operating a top notch jail.

Grinnell backers whooped it up for the sheriff Tuesday night at a fund raiser at Wauconda where friends and Republican faithful paid $10 each to add to Grinnell's campaign fund, which has been growing steadily since his election in 1990. He'll have no difficulty paying the bills for reelection.

Does all this mean that Grinnell is invincible? Not necessarily considering the land mines and obstacles that can spring up in front of anyone holding public office. As they say, lightning can always strike. Anything can happen. This has given heart to several long-shot aspirants.

If there's any knock that can be put on Sheriff Grinnell, it's the fact that he's not the cheerleading-type. Warm and affable in person, but business-like at all times, Grinnell isn't a back-slapper out of the mold of political sheriffs. His background is community law enforcement where professionalism and reserve are both the accepted and expected codes of behavior for a police chief. So it's not surprising that there is a bit of grumbling among the department's 300 or more personnel that "we never see the sheriff." This observation might be giving potential challengers a false sense of the sheriff's vulnerability.

In sizing up prospects for the future, a second term is Grinnell's for the asking. Clint will have smooth sailing next November. Any primary challengers next spring are either in the foolhardy category or out to get an early start on the 1998 campaign after Grinnell retires.

Land plan

to join the plan and to bring its zoning of unincorporated properties into conformance with it. CASS (Citizens Against Suburban Sprawl), the Citizens' Association representing citizens of the portion of the LML planning area between the tollway and the Des Plaines River, sees no reason that the County Board members from all over the County, who control zoning of unincorporated County property, would not want to support the municipalities that have a comprehensive area plan formed in accordance with the State law's provision for local land resource management.

For LML, challenges are already at hand. Even before the LML plan is signed it is being challenged. All of the LML properties between the Tollway and the Des Plaines River are zoned for residential use by the current comprehensive plans of Lake County, Lincolnshire and Mettawa. The first challenge: there was an attempt to change residential zoning to office/research on the Korhumel property, at the northwest corner of IL 60 and the tollway, to allow the construction of a one million square foot office building. The Korhumel property is an unincorporated Lake County property. Mettawa, Lake Forest, Lincolnshire and Green Oaks objected to the zoning change. The County Board turned down the Korhumel request for office/research zoning 22 to 0. Korhumel is attempting to overturn the decision in court. CASS is providing funds to help defend the County against the suit, which is scheduled for trial this fall.

The second challenge has been mounted by W.W. Grainger Corporation. Grainger purchased 517 acres of property in Mettawa, property zoned residential, with the express purpose of building a one million square foot office building, even though there is already enough vacant property zoned for offices to build over 11 million square feet of office space within a three mile radius of the Grainger site. Grainger now is seeking to disannex from Mettawa, in hopes of getting office zoning on the property from the County. Both the Circuit and the Appellate Courts have ruled in favor of the disannexation. Mettawa is appealing to the Supreme Court of Illinois. The 517 acres is almost

Commentary

20% of the land in Mettawa. Although the bottom of Grainger's C-shaped property is at the edge of town, the part of the property on which the office building is to be constructed is at the top of the C, right in the middle of Mettawa. If Grainger succeeds in disconnecting the property, it will become unincorporated Lake County located between Lake Forest, Mettawa, and Lincolnshire, right in the middle of a residential area provided by the LML Plan. And most important, a zoning change would open the door for nearby properties to also seek commercial zoning.

Will Grainger get their one million square foot office from the County Board? We (CASS) think not. Why would County Board members from all over the County wish to overturn the plans of the elected representatives of the 24,000 citizens of Lake Forest, Mettawa and Lincolnshire? If the County Board members had similar land management plans in their own areas, would they want them overturned by the County Board?

Recently, County Board Chairman

Depke announced his support for Grainger's office building on the Mettawa and LML-designated residential site. Chairman Depke is quoted as saying, "if Mettawa residents are concerned about development, they should have taken up a collection to buy the property and donate it to the Forest Preserve District for preservation." Should a village be expected to purchase every piece of its residentially zoned vacant property that might later have commercial value? The Grainger property alone would have cost each household over $85,000! Isn't the purpose of city planning and zoning to protect the property owner from random development, because he can't afford to buy the whole neighborhood? Are we to conclude that businesses like Grainger will be allowed to come to Lake County and pick whatever properties they like, regardless of zoning? CASS believes that the County Board will not allow this to happen.

The third challenge to the LML Plan comes from the Banner Day Camp. The Camp is the owner of 26 acres of unincorporated Lake County property zoned "Country," and is in the LML planning area. Banner has purchased 23 acres of incorporated Lake County land zoned "Estate" (residential). They wish to use this property to expand their camp and thus they are trying to have the "Estate" property which can only be used for residential purposes rezoned "County," which is a multi-use holding category that could easily be zoned for commercial use in the future. CASS, the citizens' organization, as well as Lake Forest, Mettawa, and Lincolnshire, will all object to this zoning change which flies in the face of the proposed LML Local Land Management Plan. CASS suggests that, if possible, some type of special use permit be granted for camp use, but without granting a zoning change.

Another issue relating to the LML Land Management Plan is Mettawa's petition to annex the forest preserve land south of Route 60. The annexation will help to secure the boundaries and zoning that are the essence of the LML Plan in this area. The 23 member Forest Preserve Board, the same people who make up the 23 member Lake County Board, must approve this annexation. CASS urges the Board to approve this annexation, to show support for the Lake Forest-Mettawa-Lincolnshire Local Land Management Plan, and to prevent uncontrolled development in the LML area.

The County Board's handling of these zoning issues in the Lake Forest-Mettawa-Lincolnshire Planning Area will certainly give everyone in the County a preview of the whole Board's attitude toward the local municipalities' efforts to bring an end to random uncontrolled development in Lake County.

What can you as a citizen do? Speak up! If you're worried about challenges such as these in your own area, contact your local town trustees, aldermen and all elected officials. Ask them to look into the Local Land Resource Management Planning Act. Also, please contact CASS if you or your organization would like to work with us to support local land management planning in Lake County. Phone or write to Elliott Tarson, President of CASS (234-2667), 350 Little Melody Lane, Lake Forest, Ill. 60045, John Cahill, Director of CASS (295-5540), 105 Indian Ridge Rd., Mettawa, Ill. 60045 or Jack Tindall, Director of CASS (816-1468), 27250 Meadowoods, Mettawa, Ill. 60048.

Wild Bill's mixes old-time setting, family pride

Take an old dairy, mix it with old-fashioned cooking and family pride, and you'll have the recipe for Wild Bill's Restaurant in Lake Villa.

Owned and managed by "Wild Bill" Burns with the help of his parents, Bob

by RHONDA VINZANT
Lakeland Newspapers

and Eola Burns, the restaurant caters to the hometown crowd.

A early 70s graduate of Antioch High School, Burns has been managing restaurants around the country for nearly 20 years. His last job before going out on his own was as a manager for the Cattle Company Restaurant in Schaumburg.

"We have a wild and woolly name, but it's a gentle place," Bill said. The name was originated by Bill's neighbor. "We offer a family atmosphere here."

Bill has lived in the area for most of the past 19 years. He has been a volunteer with the Lake Villa Fire Department for nine years. It was through those civic efforts that he found the building that is now his restaurant.

"One of the volunteer firemen owns the bar next door and he told me when the building became vacant that he thought it would be a good place for my restaurant," said Bill. "Owning my own business has always been a goal of mine."

Bill purchased the building about eight months ago and then began the task of remodeling. His parents moved back to the area from their California retirement village to lend a helping hand.

"We really didn't know what we would find," said Bill. "We wanted to take it down to the bare walls and see what was there."

What they found under several layers of drywall was the brick outside of the old dairy building. "Where the dining room is now, was the dairy loading dock," said Bill. "We sandblasted the bricks and found them to be in great shape. Trains have been going by this building for a 100 years and there were no cracks in the bricks."

Bill also wanted to remove the old ceiling in the building. Four ceilings later, Bill was left with a cathedral ceiling which restores along with the brick wall, the original feeling of the century old structure. Bill chose to leave the old windows in place to enhance the look and added ceiling fans and plants to complete the atmosphere.

"We are learning more and more each day about the history of this building," Bill said. He is hoping that area residents will come by and share what they know of the building's history with him.

"It's fascinating," said Bill. "We hope to eventually have some of the facts and trivia printed on placemats for customers to enjoy while dining."

Once Bill had the restaurant restored to the authentic atmosphere, he and chef Damon Whitney created a menu that complemented the atmosphere of the restaurant and that utilized Bill's favorites from other restaurants he had managed and visited.

Serving breakfast, lunch and dinner, the menu includes: "conductor-sized omelets" pancakes and "all aboard appetizers" such as fried mushrooms, cauliflower, onion rings, mozzarella sticks, salads, Cajun French fries and Cajun wings. There are sandwiches, grillwiches and dining car features such as the Casey Jones, a hand-cut USDA Choice ribeye charbroiled and served with garlic toast as well as grilled sole, shrimp scampi and broasted chicken.

Kiddie Kars will fill-up the youngster's appetites and the "end of the line" is a group of ice cream favorites.

"Probably our most popular item is the Santa Fe," said Bill. The Santa Fe is a marinated chicken breast with a hint of the southwest served with lettuce, tomato, salsa and jack cheese.

A personal favorite of Bill's is the Big Jim Steamer, named for a boyhood friend's father who collected and restored steam engines. The grillwiche features a fresh bratwurst patty, ground beef patty and cheddar cheese on a toasted Kaiser roll with raw onions and tiger sauce available for the asking.

Other unique items are "the railsplitter" a tender charbroiled ribeye steak on a toasted onion roll with grilled onions, mushrooms and mozzarella cheese and the caboose, which features ham, turkey, (Continued on page 15)

Baxter contributes to Great Lakes effort

Lake County Board Chairman Bob Depke announced that he has received a check for $10,000 from Baxter Health Care Corporation to assist in the campaign to save Great Lakes Naval Training Center.

Depke accepted the check on behalf of the Lake County Economic Development Corporation, the funding mechanism for the Great Lakes Preservation Team.

"This is just wonderful," Depke said. "It feels great when the business community shows such generous appreciation for the efforts taken to save the base."

In addressing the economic impact of Great Lakes possible closure, Kristine Forsyth, director of external relations for Baxter said, "We fully appreciate the substantial economic impact the closing of the base would have had on our community. We support your efforts to develop and present a case to the federal government on behalf of Great Lakes."

Depke noted that Baxter's contribution was one of the largest given by a single contributor among the numerous commercial, governmental and private citizen donors. A total of $121,000 has been collected to date to support the efforts of the Preservation Team to save Great Lakes NTC. Expenses for the Preservation Team's efforts are expected to be finalized during July.

The Base Realignment and Closure Commission has unanimously voted to consolidate all naval recruit and surface warfare training at Great Lakes and close the NTC's at Orlando and San Diego.

President Clinton has recommended the BRAC "list" to the Congress without change. The Congress has forty-five legislative days to accept or reject the base closure list, according to Depke.

Business Personnel

Honor two

Savings of American honored two local employees with national awards. Dennis G. Wilson was named "Top Regional Loan Manager" and Kevin B. Gentry was named "Top Regional Sales Manager" for the company. A native of Illinois, Wilson joined the company in 1982 and has held the positions of loan manager, assistant vice president, and vice president and regional conventional loan manager. A graduate of Western Illinois Univ., Wilson has more than 20 years experience in the field of real estate lending.

Gentry, who joined Savings of America in 1985, has more than 10 years experience the area of residential real estate lending. He currently serves as vice president and regional sales manager, a position he has held since 1990. Prior to that, he served as a loan consultant and senior loan consultant with the company's Florida operations, where he also received a degree in finance from the Univ. of Central Florida.

Bill Sarocka

Bill Sarocka of Gurnee has been appointed a loan officer by Margaretten and Company. He will be based at Margaretten's Vernon Hill's office, at 3 Hawthorn Pkwy. Before joining Margaretten, Sarocka was a loan officer with another mortgage company in Vernon Hills since 1990. He is a graduate of Southern Illinois Univ., Carbondale, with a major in marketing and a minor in finance.

Kathryn Morris

Kathryn D. Morris was presented with one of the Secretary of State's Humanitarian Awards for Community Service. Morris, activity director of Hawthorn Lakes Retirement Community in Vernon Hills, was nominated for her outstanding community service with the elderly. Morris was presented with Hawthorn Lake's "World's Greatest Activity Director" award by the residents of the community last month.

Caller ID service adds name option

Illinois Bell is now taking orders for Caller ID with Name service, which displays the name as well as the phone number of callers.

The company expects the state-of-the-art service to be especially popular among families, businesses, and the elderly.

"Most customers who try Caller ID don't want to go back to a 'blind ring' ever again," said Penny Lacy, director of external relations in Waukegan. "And caller ID with Name can help our customers manage their phone calls even better, since people are more apt to recognize names than phone numbers."

The service operates much like Caller ID, which has attracted more than 65,000 customers since Illinois Bell began offering it last year. Caller ID lets subscribers see the phone numbers of incoming calls, after the first ring, on a display unit attached to the phone. The enhancement allows them to also see the name of the person or business calling.

"We're offering the service in response to customer demand," Lacy said. "Now you can learn even more about incoming calls before answering them, making you in their monthly phone bills when the service becomes available.

feel more secure and more in control of your calls."

Caller ID with Name service will display name information in two ways.

Residential names will appear with the last name first, followed by the first name, for up to 15 characters. Businesses' names will also be displayed. Names of businesses longer than 15 characters, however will be abbreviated, according to a set of standard abbreviations.

"Businesses can use Caller ID with Name to handle customer calls with personalized service," Lacy said. "And it can help reduce fraud by allowing businesses to verify the name and phone number of customers placing orders."

The enhancement will cost $2.50 per month, in addition to the $6.50 a month cost of Caller ID service. For customers who order the service before Sept 15, Illinois Bell will waive the service connection charge of $15 for residents and $31 for businesses.

salami, American and Swiss cheese on French bread.

"Our philosophy is to give the people what they want," said Bill. "We have a motto to treat our customers and our employees like we would like to be treated."

The restaurant has 30 full and part-time employees with mom, dad and Bill doing everything from sweeping up to cooking and waiting on customers.

"We do whatever it takes," said Bob who admits, however, that he is yet to take up dishwashing.

Opened since May 23, Wild Bill's offers a cod fish fry with potato pancakes on Friday nights and a broasted chicken special on Wednesday's.

The restaurant is open from 6 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 6 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Saturdays and 6 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Sundays.

"The aesthetics of the building, the great food, the good people and the family atmosphere is what we're all about," said Bill. "We want to build on that small town flavor."

Dream house becomes a reality

When Darlene and Terry Hammer set out to have their dream home built they knew they wanted to create an open, airy feeling that gave them a rural setting in the midst of Lake County.

They purchased a five-acre parcel in Antioch that would naturally lend itself to a man-made pond and give Terry the rural setting of his Wisconsin boyhood home.

Story by RHONDA VINZANT
Photos by GENE GABRY

The nearly 4,000 square foot home needed to be comfortable while providing an outlet for the family's athletic interest. The home also needed to be suited to the Hammer's casual type of entertaining.

They worked with builder John Maki and architect Ace Mueller to alter the floor plan to suit their needs.

Probably the biggest change we made was in the way of ceilings," said Darlene. "I wanted cathedral ceilings in as much of the house as possible as well as lots of windows for natural light."

The preference caused them one slight hassle during the construction process in that the original drywall crew backed out after seeing the amount of cathedral ceilings that they planned. "We've both really always liked the look and feel you get with the cathedral ceilings," said Darlene. "It was one of the most important features to me."

Of all the rooms in the house the one that sees the most use is the sunroom. Situated adjacent to the family room and the kitchen, the sunroom sits at the rear of the home with the majority of the back wall done in glass. "That was another change we made on the original floor plan," said Darlene. "We put even more windows in the sunroom than it originally called for." It has worked out well as the sun's rays shining on the brick floor act as a solar heater in the winter months.

Add color, seating with handsome modular planters

Mix, match or stack these easy-to-build containers to provide a multi-level display of plants for your deck or patio. Or, invert them to create sturdy padded benches for extra seating.

Exterior dimensions of all planters are identical—15 inches square. Heights will vary, depending on the size of the lumber you select. By stacking two or more together, the variety of arrangements you can achieve is almost limitless.

The containers shown here use 2x4s for the smallest version, 2x8s for the mid-size planter and 2x12s for the largest. You could also use 2x6s and 2x10s. The bases are made of 1x4 boards. All these sizes are readily available at any lumber retailer. For economy, durability and good looks it is recommended you use either a naturally decay resistant species, such as Cedar, or pressure-treated Western softwood lumber. (Note: Always wash hands after handling treated wood and never burn scraps of treated wood in fireplaces or wood stoves.)

Even if you've never before tackled a woodworking project, you should have no trouble completing these simple wood planters. Besides the lumber, all you need is a hammer, a saw, a power drill, a small tube of exterior use glue and about 30 stainless steel or hot-dipped galvanized 3-inch nails.

For each planter, you will need lineal feet of two-inch dimension western softwood lumber (or any width) for the sides. You will also need a five-foot length of 1x4 for the base.

To make the sides, cut two lengths 15 inches long and two lengths 12 inches long. Place the boards on edge and arrange to form a 15-inch square, then fasten them at the corners with glue and nails, spaced two or three inches apart. (To avoid the risk of splitting the wood, you may want to predrill the nail holes for the corner joints. Use a drill bit that is slightly smaller than the diameter of the nail.)

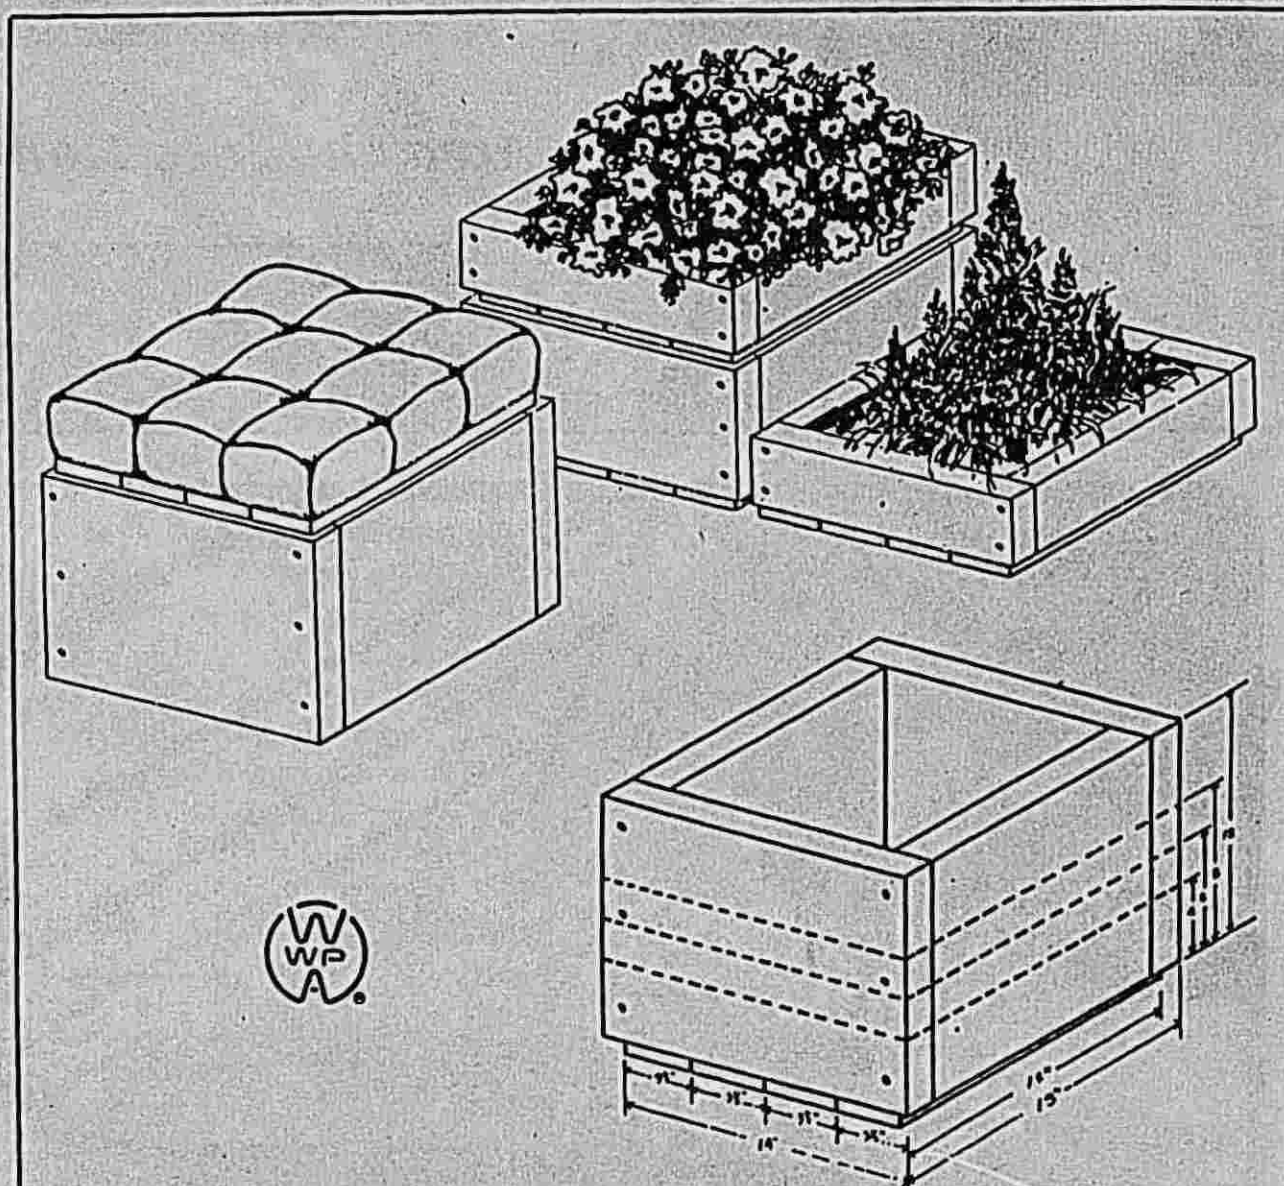

For the base, cut the 1x4 into four, 14-inch lengths. Nail them side by side to the bottom of the square so they are inset a half inch from the outer edges on all four sides. Using a half-inch bit, drill six to eight holes in the base for drainage. To help protect the surface under your planters, cut two-inch squares from scrap pieces of lumber and attach them as feet to the bottom corners.

To make a variety of sizes, select several widths of two-inch lumber, from 2x4s and 2x6s, all the way up to 2x12s. If you need extra outdoor seating, simply turn one or more of the deeper containers upside down and add a colorful cushion.

Pressure treated western softwoods may be primed and painted or stained to match your deck or patio, or simply use a clear water repellent and leave the unfinished wood to weather naturally.

For a free list of other do-it-yourself projects you can build with wood, write to Western Wood Products Association, Dept. HI-692, Yeon Bldg., 522 SW Fifth Ave., Portland, OR 97204-2122.

Decorate your deck with these versatile modular containers. Made from standard size Western Lumber, they're so simple to build you could make several in an afternoon. Stack them to create a multi-tiered effect, or invert them for extra seating.

Enjoy white picket fences without nightmare of upkeep

Vinyl fencing allows no rusting, no oxidation, easy installation, maintenance free, suitable for any climate.

It's as American as apple pie—the traditional picket fence. But along with it also comes the traditional maintenance—scrapping, painting, replacing rotted boards and the like. But not anymore. Vinyl fencing allows homeowners to enjoy the American Dream of a white picket fence without the nightmare of constant upkeep and maintenance.

Vinyl fencing has been around in the U.S. since the early 1980's. It can be used in places where traditional wooden fences fail—around pools because it doesn't rot, around children because it doesn't splinter and there is no peeling paint, or anywhere rusting has previously been a problem.

Vinyl fencing is not affected by sunlight. Heritage Vinyl Products, a vinyl fence manufacturer in Assumption, Ill., adds special ultra violet inhibitors to protect their products from the sun-light. In fact, they also add impact modifiers to their bonded blend of 100 percent virgin, hi-polymer resin for greater strength. Heritage manufactures over 30 styles of fence, including privacy fences, ranch fence, swimming pool fence, and of course the traditional picket fence. Heritage products come in three colors particularly appealing to homeowners—white, tan, and gray. Further information on vinyl fencing is available locally through Mike Meier Fence Mfg., 7501 Meyer Rd., Spring Grove, IL 60081 or call 587-1111 or (815)675-1111.

Besides having an impact resistance greater than wood, Heritage products are also great looking. Because there's no painting, and it won't crack, peel, chip, rot, or rust, it looks like new for many years to come. Plus you don't have those maintenance headaches like you do with wood and other types of fenced.

Heritage also uses a co-extrusion process that utilizes a head die the same shape as the finished product, which means your fence will keep its shape. Some other vinyl fences produced by other types of dies tend to lose their shape in extreme heat.

So forget about the upkeep and maintenance. Using vinyl allows you to relax and enjoy a fence that will never chip, fade, peel, rot, rust, and never needs painting.

Deviled eggs

Here's another variation for deviled eggs: Add deviled ham to the yolk mix. It's very tasty.

Handybag

Hate to grease a baking pans? The stuff is hard to get off hands and from under fingernails, try using a sandwich bag, put it on, grab a little grease, and rub it on the pans.

When done, just turn the bags inside out. There's no mess. It's easy.

Ice cream scooping

Sometimes scooping ice cream from a container can be a real spoon-bending experience. Run the spoon under very hot water first, and the spoon will cut through the frozen delight much easier.

Powdered sugar

Fill a big salt shaker that has large holes with powdered sugar. When making funnel cakes, you can easily sprinkle on as much sugar as you want or need. Also use the shaker to sprinkle granulated sugar on doughnuts.

Handy grater

Before using a grater, spray it liberally with vegetable oil spray. This keeps cheese and other "grateables" from sticking.

Lights, camera...

When children are small, record yourself reading their favorite stories. They will enjoy listening to mom at will, and give your vocal cords got a rest. Now parents can videotape themselves reading, playing or conversing with their children. These recordings will be cherished by both child and parent as time passes.

Bath brush

If you have no place handy to hang a bath brush, put a shower curtain ring on the bathroom door handle or a towel bar, and use it to hang the brush.

Od or zapper

A great way to keep shoes and sneakers smelling fresh when not in use, take half of a fabric-softener sheet and place it in each shoe.

Recycle and reuse

Use empty baby towelette containers (not the pop-up kind). Cut out pretty wrapping paper, glue or tape it over the label, and keep crayons, hair ribbons and fashion-doll clothes in them. Or keep screws and nails in them, and wrapped coins in them until you have time to take them to the bank.

Easy to find

Keep track of safety pins by putting them in a magnetic paper-clip holder. It's worked great!

Envelope codes

When paying bills, use the upper right-hand corner of the envelope (where the stamp will go) to write when the bill is due. When it needs to go in the mail, put the stamp on and mail it.

Also use that corner when addressing Christmas cards—put an "L" or a "P" depending on whether it needs a letter enclosed and/or a picture. Also use this device when addressing birthday or anniversary cards.

Laundry baskets

A great idea for plastic laundry baskets when the sides are no longer good. Cuts off the sides, leaving the bottom of the basket with a two inch edge. It's perfect by the back door for wet boots or shoes.

Expand on this idea by taking the bottoms of the round baskets and giving them to the kids to use as bases in the backyard kickball games. It works out well for them, and they have colored bases.

Shelf liners

Solve the shelf-lining problem by buying "scrap" vinyl floor covering (one yard by 12 feet long) from a flooring dealer and cut it to fit the kitchen shelves.

The cushion padding protects the glasses and china. But best of all, it does not discolor or tear. I can easily wipe it clean and the pattern is attractive on the shelves. It's indestructible!

Even the catch-all storage area under the sink stays fresh and clean with just an occasional wipe-up.

It can be less expensive than regular shelf lining, easy to cut, and it lies flat without tacking down and almost never needs replacing.

Situated on five acres, Darlene and Terry Hammer's home reflects beautifully off their man-made pond which is in the shape of a heart.

The room features a weight lifting machine, hot tub and glass doors which lead to the in-ground swimming pool outside.

"This is a good room for entertaining year around," said Darlene. A bar and sliding glass window off the kitchen open to the sunroom for ease in entertainment.

The in-ground swimming pool is inset into a large wooden deck that is the length of the rear of the home. Benches and flower boxes are at the edges of the deck to provide for entertainment and a homey atmosphere.

With its own entrance from the rear deck, the family room features a cathedral ceiling to floor length brick fireplace with mirrors on one side. The mirrors were done by Creative Mirrors.

A formal dining room featuring her grandmother's thrashing table continues to tie the country theme into the home. According to Darlene the table can seat up to 16 people and reaches the length of the room.

Extra overhead cabinets provide added storage space for those special dining needs and are especially useful for the Hammer's who didn't own a china cabinet or hutch when moving in.

The large kitchen features an island where the range top is situated, a side by side refrigerator and a double oven.

"One feature that was very important in the kitchen was the pantry and desk," said Hammer. "Since the kitchen tends to be a hub of activity I wanted the desk for phone use and the pantry for practical storage."

The island was an attractive feature to Darlene as well as were the appliance garages and lazy susan in the cabinetry.

The gas stove has a griddle and broiling option on the range top which the family finds indispensable.

The main floor of the home also features a formal living room, which for the Hammer's has become a study/den. "We don't really have the need for a formal living room so we use it for a computer room and plan to put bookshelves across one wall for a library at a latter date," said Darlene.

The home features four and a half baths. A half-bath is off the hallway leading to the master bedroom, a full-bath is located off the sunroom and another full-bath is in the master bedroom which features double sinks, a sunken tub and separate shower room.

"The mirrors in the master bath were also done by Creative Mirrors," said Darlene. The master bedroom deviates from the home's predominately country theme to mix in the Southwestern look. It is a bright and airy (Cont'd on next page) room with a glass door leading to the home's deck and large windows overlooking the front yard and natural pond.

The upstairs of the home has been designed with the Hammer's two teenage daughters in mind.

Each has a bedroom at one end of the home with a separate bathroom. A sitting room, with loft overlooking the sunroom, planned as third bedroom, is a living room/television area for the two youth.

"We knew that with the girls approaching their teenage years we wanted them to have their own bedrooms and bathrooms," said Darlene. "With the sitting room it provides them a place to take their friends and entertain them with a sense of privacy."

Probably the first thing a visitor notices as they drive up to the brick and natural wood siding home is the man-made pond in the front yard. The pond was dug, partially by Terry, in the shape of a heart.

"We had lived on the water for many years prior to building this home and wanted to retain that feeling," said Darlene. "The pond gives us the natural beauty of the water."

Wooden benches are placed around the pond under groves of trees to provide the family a place to relax and enjoy the natural beauty of their five acre lot. The landscaping, which incorporates many of the existing trees that were in place prior to construction, was done by Frank Monteleone.

Above, a view of the family room with its cathedral ceiling. At left, Darlene and Amy enjoy an afternoon out in the open countryside of their home.

Choosing general contractor may be most critical decision

by RICHARD PREVES

Selecting a general contractor for a construction project may be the most critical decision you will be required to make in a construction project, whether it be a new home or a room addition.

For custom residential projects, most contractors are first invited, and then selected through referrals. These recommendations come from relatives, friends or other projects you have seen built. Referrals are a good starting point, but you should do additional home work before making your final decision.

As in any endeavor, past experience is key. A contractor who has been in the same business a minimum of five years can be judged to be stable as a business, and possessing the minimum experience.

Not all experience is equal, however. The key is to match the size and complexity of your project with the contractor's experience. A contractor who builds a lot of room additions may not be the best choice for a custom new house. Conversely, a contractor who specializes in large custom projects may not give a room addition the attention it deserves.

References are an important component to research. Ask for a minimum of three to four references.

You will want to speak with these past clients as well as visit the finished product. Remember, no one will intentionally give a bad reference; what you are furnished will be this contractor's best success stories.

If your conversation with the reference is lukewarm, or if your visit reveals less than satisfactory workmanship, you would be advised to pass on this contractor. You can be sure that if these references are his best, there are sure to be worse projects of which you will not be made aware.

An interview with the perspective contractor is highly recommended. Tell him to bring the superintendent for the project if it is someone other than himself. By engaging in conversation and soliciting answers to your questions, you want to verify if a trustful relationship can be established.

You will be interacting with these people every day for several months. If you are uncomfortable with them now, it could get worse over time. Ask yourself if you would be willing to invite them into your home to live among your family and possessions.

The next question is to inquire about the contractor's present and future workload. The nature of the construction business is to bid as many projects as possible, hoping that you will obtain one project for every four or five that you bid. Occasionally contractors will be more successful than above average, and will have more work than they can manage.

Ask the perspective contractor how many projects he currently is carrying, and how many he is bidding on. Also, ask how many project superintendents and carpenters he normally has on his payroll. If he seems to have more work than available staff, you do not want to be added to this list.

A Tool of First Resort, Towards Profitability

Look up! It's time to celebrate ceilings

What's up?

Is there a room in your home that desperately needs a new look or merely needs something special to make it come alive? Well, just look up! That's right, the ceiling offers many interesting possibilities.

If you have a small room and want to make it appear airy and larger, you may want to cover the walls and the ceiling in the same light color. If you desire a cozy, warm look, try darker, more intense colors.

For a truly unique effect, consider using one of the new "faux" wallcoverings on the ceiling. There are many from which to select, such as marble, wood or granite. Wallcovering borders placed on or at the ceiling can also create a special look. There are borders available that have corners which make your ceiling look like a glorious picture frame.

If you would like to make a real statement, consider a tented ceiling. Fabric is attached to the ceiling and gathered at the center to create the tented look. If you choose this method, you should use a lightweight fabric. A solid or a thin stripe is a great choice.

Decorating a ceiling can also be a super solution when you are working with a small budget. For

Dimensions in Decorating

Mary Leben

example, you may not want to put a lot of money into decorating your child's bedroom. Try wallpapering the ceiling with billowing clouds, friendly animals or maybe a lively floral print, depending on the personality of the child.

No matter which method you choose, color, texture, fabric or wallcovering can all add a new dimension to your ceiling and give your room a special charm of its own.

Celebrated ceilings

"You can't go wrong painting your ceilings white," That's the general belief, and it's true. But if it leads you to assume that no other treatment could be right, it's just not true! There is no reason why a ceiling can't be as decorative as any other part of a room.

Whether we're aware of it or not, a ceiling does affect us. While a soaring ceiling in a spacious room raises our spirits, in a small room, it can be disconcerting. Reactions vary with the individual; a low ceiling may seem heavy and restricting to some, but cozy and inviting to others.

It is nice to know that when the height of your ceiling is not in proportion to your room or pleasing to your senses, you can "decorate on" the illusion of more or less height.

In the matter of raising and lowering ceilings, color is your surest ally.

Ceilings seem higher if they are lighter in tone than the walls; lower if they are darker.

Ceilings are more obvious in some rooms than in others—in a long room or hallway, for instance your eye can't help being drawn to the ceiling. Wouldn't a tint or design be more interesting than plain white?

Texture is also intriguing without being competitive. It can be introduced on a ceiling by means of Japanese matting, lattice work or caning.

Another excellent option is wallcovering. Some papers and fabrics come in color-and-design coordinated groups. You might try one paper on the wall and another on the ceiling, separated by a border or molding. If the drapery fabric came from the same coordinated group, the effect should be exceptionally pleasing—and you'd be free of all worry about color and pattern compatibility.

You can even be dramatic with patterned wallpaper or fabric, particularly when it is an extension of your room's theme. It is best if the design has no direction, so it will look right from any point in the room.

Whatever you try, don't forget your ceilings, celebrate them!

An affordable pool for a lifetime of revitalizing fun

You've been toying with the idea of buying a pool for a long time. Each year you're more and more convinced it would be a good investment.

Lately, you've been hearing a lot about the health benefits of swimming and water aerobics. You've heard water-based exercise is a great way to lose and maintain weight, that it offers all the benefits of land-based exercise without the shock to joints and muscles, that it helps relieve stress and can actually revitalize a person's body, mind and spirit!

Besides—it would just be good, old-fashioned, home-style fun for the whole family!

You really don't have to be convinced that a pool is a good investment. You just haven't wanted to go through that long, drawn-out construction process. Plus, you simply haven't been able to afford a pool—until now.

The Middle Garden Pool is a revolutionary concept that maximizes the benefits of owning a pool while minimizing construction time and costs.

Installed partially above and partially below ground, the Middle eliminates such construction factors as uneven terrain, underground obstacles and expensive concrete footing and decks. The Middle adapts easily to meet your design needs with a wide variety of styles, sizes and options, including interior installation for year round use.

In fact, the Middle is so easy to install, you may want to enjoy even greater savings by building it yourself. Your dealer can assist by supplying necessary materials and equipment.

Imagine, your own health club, a retreat from stress and a family fun center, all in your own back yard or in your home, ready to revitalize you and your family whenever you most need it.

To find out more about the Middle pool contact J & L Pool, 700 W. Rte. 120 in McHenry, or call (815) 385-1368.

Recycling takes only two minutes a day

•Over a lifetime, the average American throws away 600 times his or her body weight in garbage—more than 90,000 pounds of trash. Recycling just 10 percent of your garbage can reduce that amount by four-and-a-half tons.

•Recycling five glass bottles saves enough energy to light a 100-watt light bulb for 20 hours.

•Nearly half of all American families separate their garbage for recycling—whether mandated by local ordinance or not.

•One tree is saved for every four-foot stack of newspapers recycled.

•It takes 1,050 recycled plastic milk jugs to make a six-foot, plastic park bench.

•Recycling one aluminum can saves enough energy to run a television set for three hours.

•Recycling takes the average householder about two minutes a day. Stackable plastic bins make recycling fast and convenient.

The taste will be held in the heart of downtown Antioch under the water tower on Toft Ave. A number of Antioch's finest restaurants will be selling samples of their culinary treats.

Maxwell Street Days and the Taste of Antioch are sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, the local restaurants and businesses, and the Village of Antioch.

Visitors get a chance to shop for some of the best bargains of the year while enjoying the local cuisine. Entry to the Taste of Antioch is free and the celebration begins July 22 and runs to July 24. Maxwell Street Days will run from July 22 to July 25.

Fine dining

For over 27 years, Bernd Jung, owner of the Jensen House, has been a chef specializing in German-American cuisine. He brings this wealth of experience to the menu of the Jensen House Restaurant, which he has owned for the past eight years.

New at the Jensen House is its dinner menu which includes pork, beef, chicken, veal, or fish. For vegetarians, there is even a vegetable plate. Reasonably priced, you just can't go wrong no matter what you order.

"You deserve the most for you money--quality, service and value," said Jung.

The Restaurant is open for breakfast, lunch, and dinner. The hours on Monday and Tuesdays are from 6 a.m. to 3 p.m. On Wednesday through Sunday, the Jensen House is open from 6 a.m. to 9 p.m.

The Jensen House Restaurant is making its first appearance at the Taste of Antioch. On the menu for the Taste are BBQ ribs with award winning sauce, Jensen fries, potato pancakes with applesauce, cole slaw, peanut butter cookie, and beverage.

Dining dynamite

T.N.T.'s Place of Antioch offers dynamite dining either inside the lovely dining room or outside on their screened in deck. Owners Taso and Tina Siamantouras say, "Stop in at our location to enjoy our daily specials."

New on the menu are the all-you-can-eat specials. Monday's offer the scrumptious all-you-can-eat shrimp. On Tuesday, meatloaf is the special of the day. On Wednesdays, T.N.T.'s famous Greek chicken is the all-you-can-eat treat. The roast beef all-you-can-eat special is featured on Thursdays. Don't miss Friday's fish fry, it is an absolute catch! On Saturdays, the prime rib dinner is the special and Sundays feature is the all-you-can eat BBQ ribs.

T.N.T.'s of Antioch is an absolute must for sports lovers. Enjoy watching your favorite team on their big screen TV. T.N.T.'s also offered a well-stocked cocktail lounge.

T.N.T.'s return to Taste of Antioch features chicken or pork shish kebab, spinach pie, hot dogs, the Greek pastry baklava, and soft drinks.

remains with two additions being added during the past 14 years.

Wunder-Bar is owned and operated by Erwin and Mary Gaa since 1978. Erwin was trained in Germany and came to the United States in 1972 at the age of 24. He has brought his German heritage and knowledge of cuisine to the restaurant.

As you walk through the doors, you can order your favorite German or American beers from the beautiful mahogany bar.

Sauerbraten, beef roulade, wiener schnitzel, giant pork shank with sauerkraut along with combination platters are the house specialties. There is also a complete menu of American favorites including BBQ baby back ribs, steaks, broiled fish, fried chicken, salads and a children's menu.

Wunder-Bar returns to the Taste of Antioch with German potato salad, brat on a bun with sauerkraut, apple strudel, and lemonade.

Spice of life

DiMarco's, 883 Main Street, has been serving up the spices of Southern Italy in Antioch for the past three years.

"My father was from Sicily and my mother from Naples," said DiMarco. "There are more spices, flavor, and aroma to the food of Southern Italy."

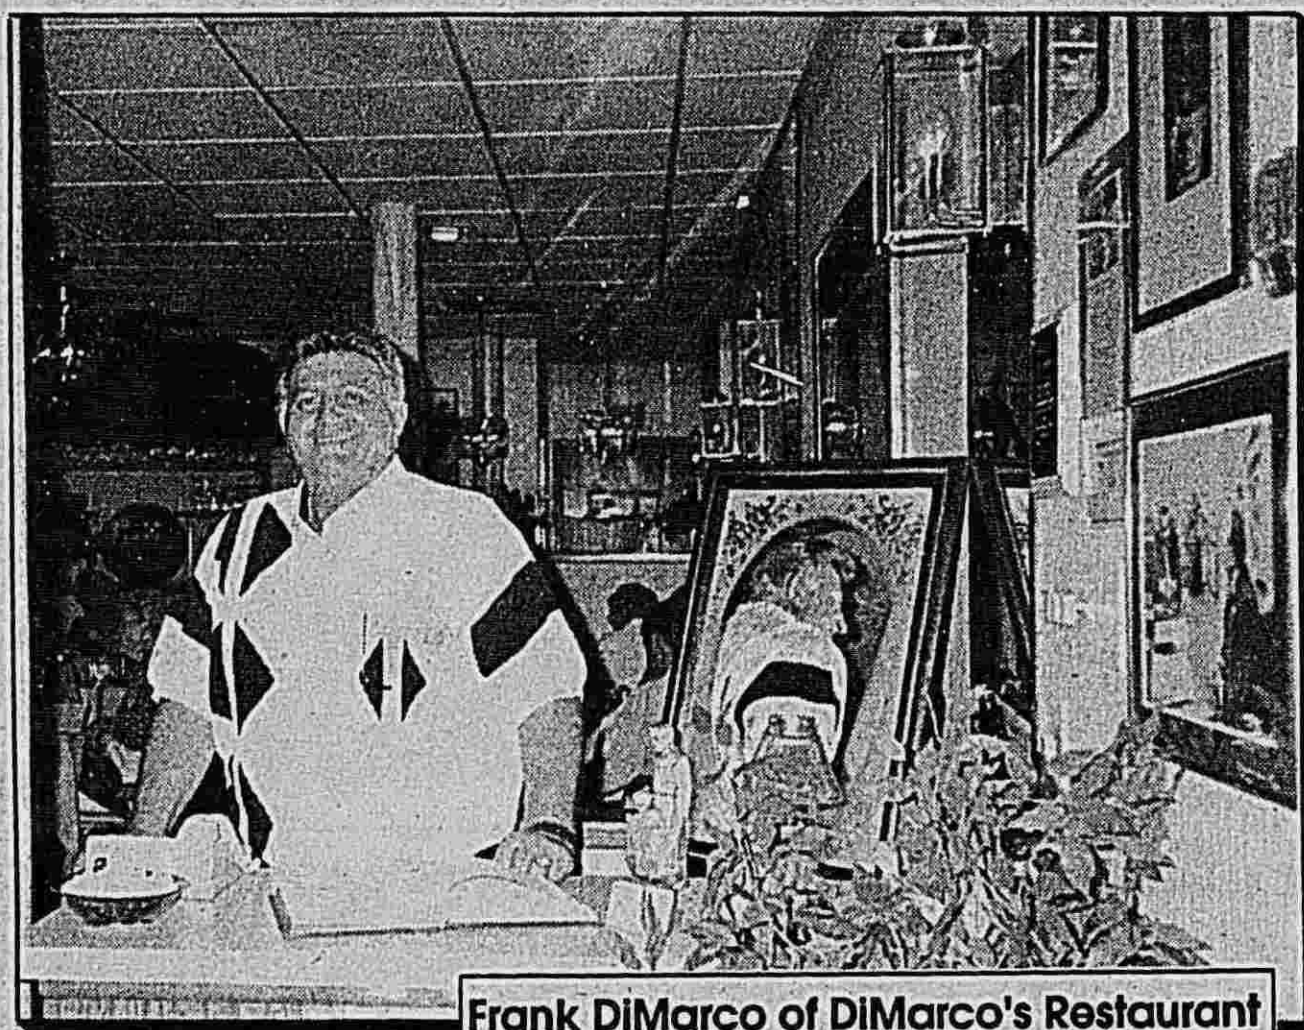

A regular at the Taste of Antioch, it is reported that over 2000 pounds of calamari was served last year to Taste patrons! Their menu for this year includes the calamari frita, sausage and peppers, linguine with garlic butter or tomato sauce, Italian fried dough, cannoli, and their famous homemade Italian lemonade.

DiMarcos has been rated by both the News-Sun and the Chicago Tribune with three and a half stars. They have many specialties including: steak and pork chop fernaggino (in a cheese sauce); a cream white clam sauce "that is absolutely wonderful" and ravioli al-forno. Several fish dishes are also on the menu.

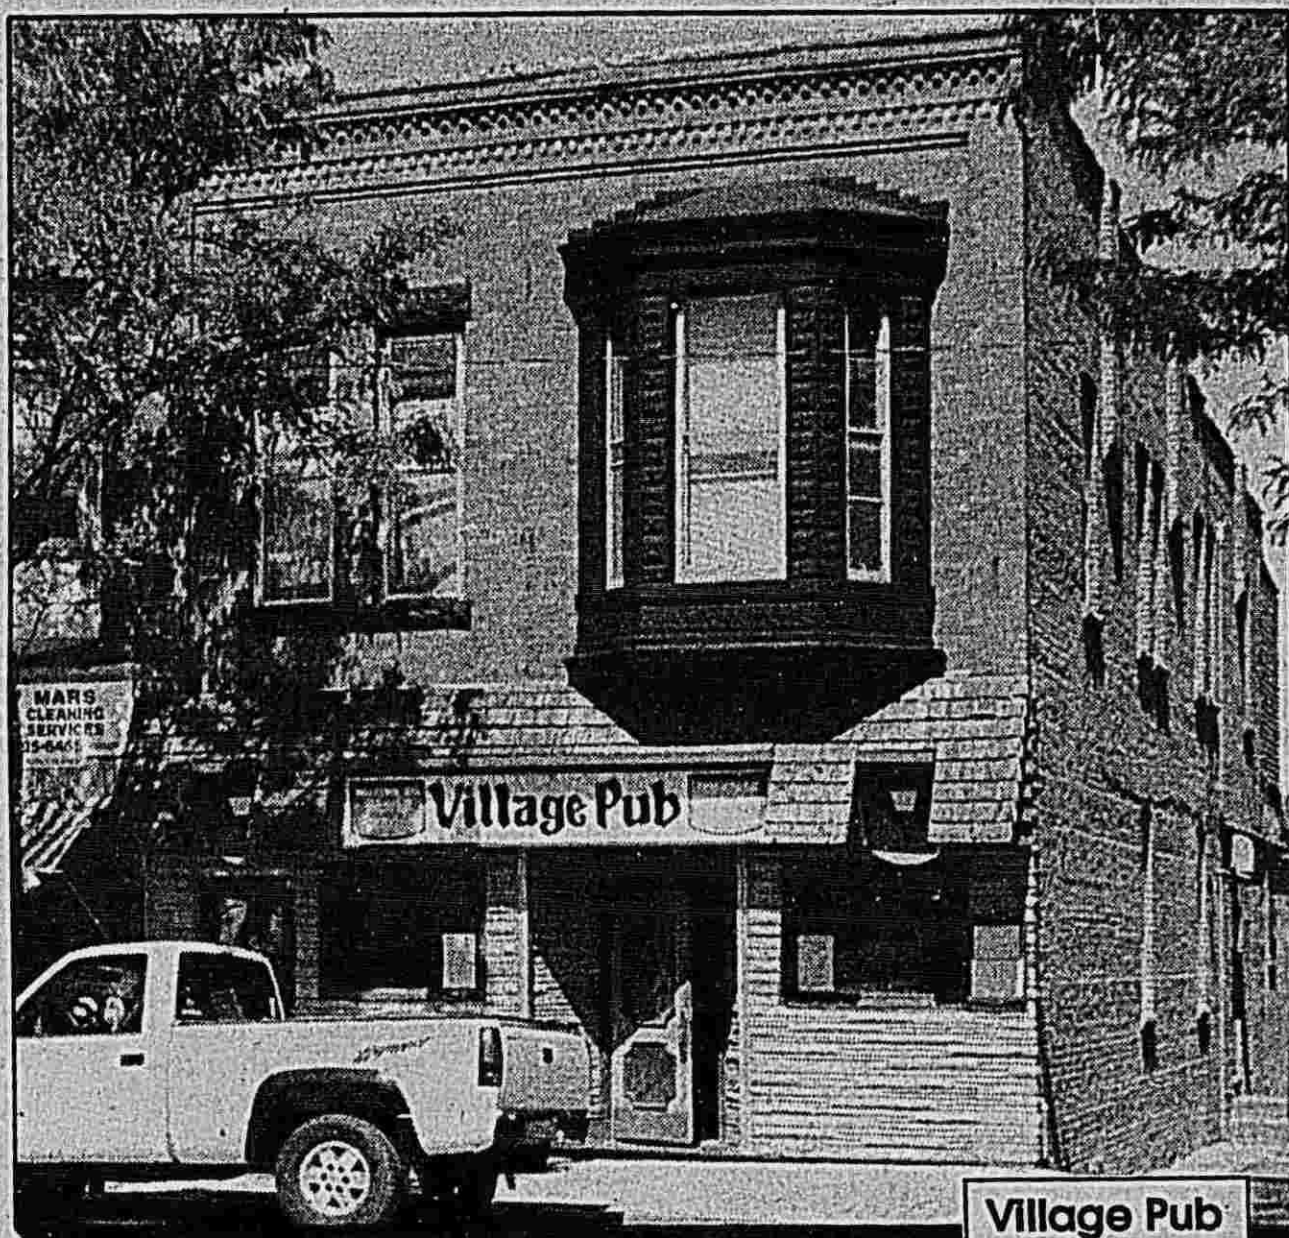

Run to the border

Appearing for the third time at the Taste of Antioch is Taco Bell. This Mexican Restaurant franchise is noted for its reasonably priced tacos.

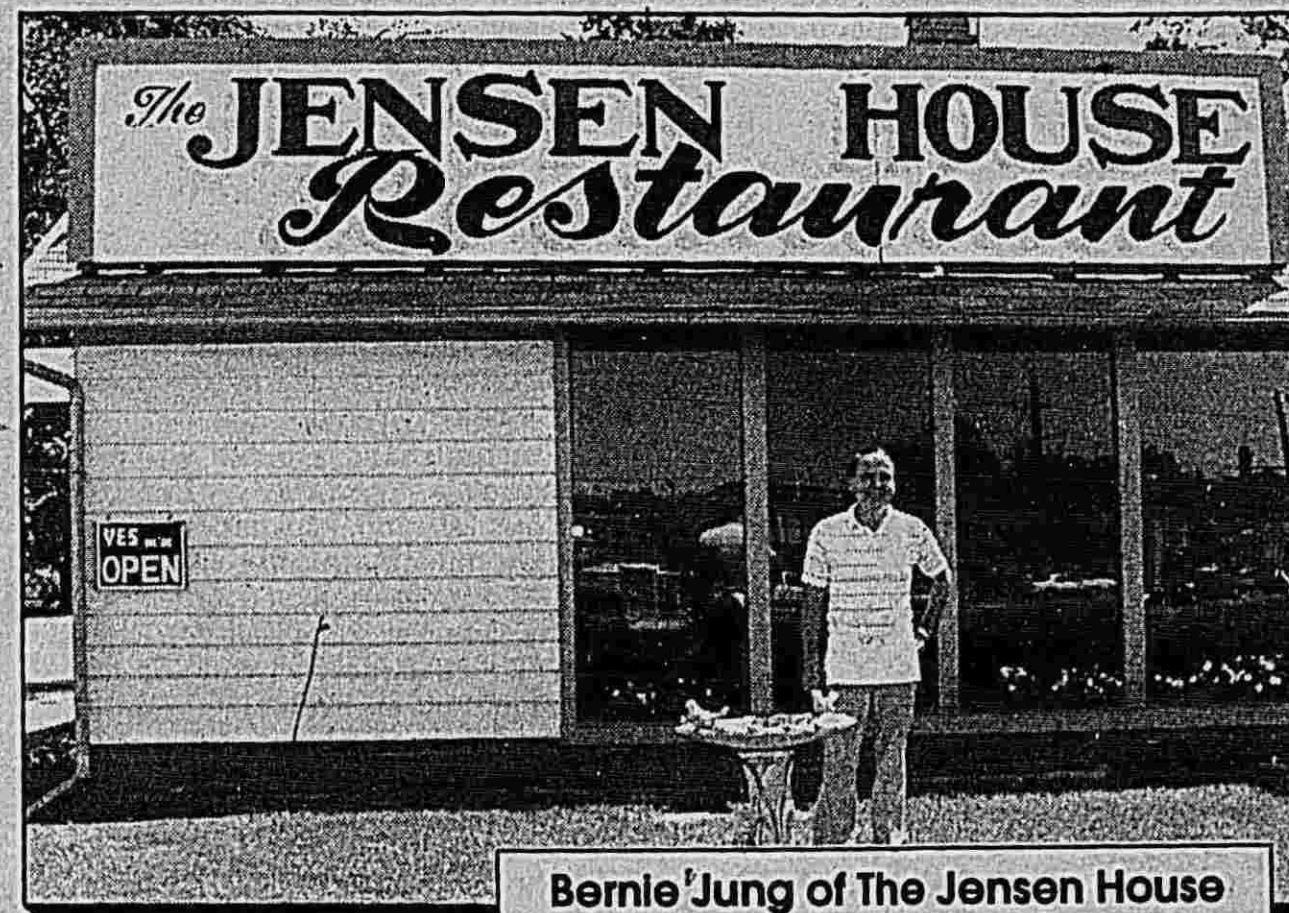

On the menu this year are both hard and soft shell tacos. Also, there is a

Chilly desserts

One of the best places to visit on a hot summer night in Antioch is the Dairy Queen, located on Main Street. With the umbrella tables outside, it is a great place to chill out, while enjoying a cool treat.

And, don't forget DQ for that special celebration. Ice cream cakes and blizzard pies can be decorated with a special message for any occasion.

For the Taste this year, Dairy Queen of Antioch is offering dilly bars, DQ ice cream sandwiches, buster bars, caramel and nut bars, blizzards, yogurt cookies, and starkisses.

After you have sampled the main course treats, stop by the DQ area for a Taste of Antioch dessert.

Viva Las Vegas

One of the more popular restaurants in Antioch is the Las Vegas. Located right in the middle of town, it is a favorite of local residents. The restaurant is large, comfortable, and usually busy.

The owners, Chris and John Katris, have been serving the Antioch area for over 20 years. The restaurant is famous for its homemade soups and daily specials.

Appearing at the Taste of Antioch, the Las Vegas is offering gyros, spinach pie, and BBQ back ribs. In addition, Coke and ice tea will be served.

Pub's threepeat

For outstanding food and libations the Village Pub is the place to go. Located right on Main Street in the village, regulars swear by the world famous fish fry on Fridays.

The Pub is making a third appearance at the Taste and will be serving sweet corn, chicken drumsticks, hot dogs, mini tacos, and soft drinks.

Special delivery

"We deliver to you!" is the motto of Antioch Pizza. Located on Route 59 in Antioch, they are famous for the pizza with the golden crust.

Owner, Rich Zeman has been serving up pizza to Antioch and the surrounding area for over 16 years.

Returning again to the Taste, their menu features pizza slices, stromboli slices, brownies and soda. For those of you unfamiliar with stromboli, it is an outside crust with cheese, mushrooms, peppers, salami, and Canadian bacon on the inside. It is out of this world!

Savings, fun for Maxwell Str

It's that time again! The Maxwell Street Days are here. Visitors as well as local residents flock to the Village of Antioch for one of the best darn sidewalk sales of the year.

Expect bargains but not low quality merchandise. Most merchants are already thinking about the fall stock and shoppers can find bargains that sizzle like the weather.

"We offer A1 quality merchandise at a discounted price," says Larry Hanson, manager of BJ's Fashions for Men. "We do not go out and buy things for the sale. We have enough merchandise to clearance."

BJ's is located right on Main Street and is known for its quality sportswear. Shoppers will be sure to find the finest of merchandise at a discount.

"For Maxwell Days, everything is on sale," says Joanne Linker, part owner of J.J. Blinkers. The store, located on Main Street has been busy for the last eight years.

"We will be having a storewide clearance to get ready for Halloween," said Linker. "We rent and sell costumes and accessories." Linker plans to offer 25 - 70 percent off on select merchandise. J.J. Blinkers offers a wide selection of toys, trinkets, gag gifts, cards, and many other fascinating items. They are open seven days a week from 10 a.m.

The Antioch Schwinn has been a mainstay in Antioch for 22 years. Rick Kubica has been the owner for the last six.

"Come in and check out our full selection of Schwinn, Giant, Iron Horse, and GT/Dyno bicycles at Maxwell Street Days' savings," says Kubica. In addition to the bicycles, Cory Ullsch, Rick Kubica, owner of Antioch Schwinn, and Rick Abel.

Antioch True Value is planning quite a celebration for Maxwell Street Days. According to Stan Livermore, owner for the past 10 years, "The grill will be going!" Besides having a great sale in the parking lot, employees will be cooking up some samples on the Weber grill.

"Merchandise from every department will be on sale," says Livermore. "Outdoor furniture, grills, summer games and toys will all be on sale at typically 20 to 50 percent off. Some things will be reduced even further."

The Clothes Connection will have numerous items on sale. "We carry a variety of sizes and are specializing in a selection of clothing for the large woman," said Flo who has been in business in Antioch for over 10 years. "The sale really brings in a lot of crowds and now, with the Taste, it has become a great deal of fun."

The Connection is located in the front of Flo's on 945 Main Street. For the sale, she will be offering 20 to 40 percent off summer clothing and select merchandise.

If you ever wanted to get your ears pierced, now is the time to do it. The Clothes Connection is offering ear piercing at the incredible low rate of $8. In addition, a wide selection of earrings are on sale for $1 a pair.

Don't forget your furry or feathered friends at Maxwell Street Days. Pine Tree Pet Shop will have various special offerings throughout the celebration.

Maxwell Street Days '93

A special kind of hometown

Finding that special small town to live in that hasn't lost any of its old-world charm can be a hard thing to find in these days of pre-fabricated houses and strip malls. However, Antioch is one of those special, quaint villages that still remarkably resembles that picturesque small country town of the late 1800s.

Anchored by the village's legendary church steeple, one of the town's original landmarks, the more than 6,500 residents have dedicated themselves to the preservation of their community and their high quality of life.

This dedication was in full-force last summer when the community came together to build a lasting monument to the present and future children of the village with the construction of Centennial Park on Anita St.

This massive fund-raising and building effort needed, and received, the entire community's support. People from all walks of life donated their time and expertise to build a "magical playground" for all residents to remember Antioch's 100th birthday.

"This is probably the most significant positive thing we've done," said Antioch Village Board Trustee Mabel Lou Weber.

It is this spirit of community that enable Antioch to remain one of the area's few small town atmospheres in an ever changing, fast-paced world.

But what really sets Antioch apart is its proximity to two of the Midwest's largest industrial and population centers, Chicago and Milwaukee.

Bordered by the State of Wisconsin on the north, Antioch is equally distanced between the nation's third largest city and one of the nation's still thriving agricultural and heavy industrial meccas.

Just a 45 minute drive to the north is Milwaukee, while just 45 minutes to the south is Chicago. Residents of Antioch can enjoy the quality of life of the small town and still work in a large city.

Despite its hometown roots, Antioch still welcomes visitors to the village with open arms, as the Chain O' Lakes region was originally a major vacation spot. Tourism grew quickly along with hunting, fishing, dancing and gambling and it became the employment base of nearly 10,000 people in the region.

Today, Antioch is known as the "Hub of the Chain O' Lakes Region," and still considers tourism one of its major sources of business revenue. In addition to tourism, Antioch's industrial park hosts some of the nation's finest manufacturers, including Pickard China, Thelen Sand & Gravel, and Gladine Electronics.

For fun and leisure, Antioch residents use their prime location to their advantage during all times of the year.

Summer time calls for the use of the Chain region's extensive water resources and campground areas. Several major golf courses are at Antioch's fingertips, while the Lake Geneva resort area is just 20 minutes drive to the northwest.

But the fun doesn't stop during the winter months as ice fishing, snowmobiling, cross-country skiing, and downhill skiing at nearby Wilmot Mountain can fill even the hard to please person's day.

In addition, Antioch offers a first class theater company located at the PM&L Theater in the downtown business district. PM&L is a non-profit playhouse run by volunteers that draws professional actors from all over the country to perform in the company's plays. PM&L has become a box office favorite for people from all over Illinois and Wisconsin. —by TOM STEVENS

Craft, antique bargains abound

Attention all bargain hunters! The Maxwell Street Days are coming to bring you some of the best bargains of the year.

Best of all, Antioch is a virtual haven for craft lovers and antique hounds. Antioch hosts a number of craft and antique stores, all within walking distance.

The Tulip Patch is one of the many craft or antique shops you will find on your journey for bargains in Antioch.

The Tulip Patch has provided Northern Lake County unique hand-crafted gifts for the past seven years. This store sells ONLY items hand-crafted in the United States. Many items are made by local artisans which allows The Tulip Patch to do custom orders at no additional cost.

With over 100 crafters and thousands of items, The Tulip Patch can provide the discerning customer with decoration and gift ideas in country, Southwestern and traditional themes. Stop on by for Maxwell Days to see what they can offer you.

"Maxwell Street Days are just a lot of fun," said Patricia Hawkins of Patricia's Giftware and Amish Furniture. "They bring the town together."

Patricia's Giftware and Amish Furniture has been in Antioch for several years now. The store carries several hand-made furniture items, including roll-top desks, dining room tables, a three-in-one rocking horse, and ironing boards. "They are all made out of solid oak by hand," said Hawkins. All of the furniture is made by the Amish.

The store also carries three different lines of crystal including: Mikasa, Crystal Clear, and American Cut Crystal. Hawkins will be on hand during the Maxwell Street Days to assist shoppers.

Patricia's also has a number of smaller craft items available. Some start as low as $2.95!

Located inside of Flo's on 954 Main Street is Kathy's Cottage. The beautiful hand-crafted items are just eye-popping. Owner Kathy Carden has been at that location for 3 1/2 years, and she reminds everyone, "We are open seven days a week!"

Carden is planning to offer 10 percent off items storewide. In addition, Christmas items will be cleared. And, for that very special something, special orders will be welcome.

A stop at the Park Avenue Antique

Mall is a must for everyone! Besides the delightful antiques and collectibles, owners Bob and Brenda Case will be featuring their resident artist, Louis Aranda.

Aranda will be available to answer questions about his art, sculpture, and antique restoration.

Patricia's Furniture Brings Amish Quality to Lake County!

Patricia's Amish Furniture and Giftware is filled with loads of furniture straight from Amish settlements in the Midwest. They recently expanded their floor space to make room for the many new additions to their furniture line, including a beautiful sleigh bed, hand-crafted cedar chest, entertainment center and more!

Patricia Hawkins, owner of the store with her husband, Bob, commented on how fascinating it is to visit the Amish farms.

The Amish have always been modest, honest and harmonious people...who still live their lives much the same way as they did centuries ago. There is no electricity in the "typical" Amish community. Lighting comes from gas lamps, and stoves and refrigerators use bottled gas. Central heating comes courtesy of wood-burning stoves or open fireplaces. The horse and buggy provide transportation and plows for the field are still horse-drawn.

Each piece of furniture from the Amish is painstakingly hand-crafted and treated for the ultimate in quality. Patricia's has looked all over the Midwest for the best craftsmen. Each piece is solid oak, cherry or hickory. You can then choose from 8 different stains to match your decor.

Whether it be a beautiful new rocking chair, roll-top desk or bedroom set you can be assured of top quality.

Unfortunately, hardship reaches the Amish also, but they have a unique way of handling it! This past June one of the Amish farmers that builds furniture for Patricia's had his barn burn to the ground. The Amish have no insurance. Their "insurance" is that when the barn burns down, the community comes together for a traditional "barn-raising." Everyone pitches in, including most of the materials for the new barn. It is an example of the unique form of trust that bonds the community together.

This Amish pride goes into each unique piece of furniture at Patricia's. Stop in and check out the quality and "feel" of the Amish furniture.

You'll also find many smaller items in the store for a gift or just for yourself! Choose from shelves in many shapes and sizes, framed mirrors, wooden garbage cans, glassware and much more.

The Amish consider children a gift from God, and they are brought up as part of a loving family. Patricia's has many items for the young ones. Some are Amish-made toys from the Amish settlements. Also, there are cradles and mini-rockers.

The life of the Amish is captured in many Amish-look framed prints by Nancy Noel, Al Koenig and Steve Polomchak, available at Patricia's.

Crystal is the perfect gift for anniversary and wedding gifts. Check out the many unique styles in serving dishes, glassware and picture frames.

Take some time to stop by Patricia's Amish Furniture and Giftware on Lake Street in Antioch.

Just take Route 83 North to Downtown Antioch and turn left on Lake Street. We're about a half block down on the right. We're open 7 days a week, so you can visit when it's convenient. Stop in Today!

Bands play on at Maxwell Street Days

Non-stop entertainment is what you will get at Antioch's Maxwell Street Days. From rhythm and blues to show tunes, there is entertainment for the entire family.

The three-day entertainment extravaganza kicks off at 2 p.m. on Thursday with the Discords. The Discords are comprised of local youths who will entertain the crowd with tunes from the 50s and 60s.

There are many kiddie rides to keep the children happy and Bingo will be offered. Bingo is scheduled from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. and from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. on Thursday.

On Thursday and Friday, 95 WIL Rock Radio will be broadcasting from the Taste. On Saturday, 1050 AM WLIP will be on hand.

The Luke Hill Orchestra will be appearing from 5:30 - 6:30 p.m. playing all of the old favorites Thursday evening.

On Friday, July 23, Phase II will be providing entertainment from 1 - 4:30 p.m. Phase II is a country rock band making a return engagement to the Taste.

Chicago's musician's musician, Ted Aliotta will be playing from 4:30 - 6:30 p.m. Appearing with Haynes and Jeremiah, they will play some good time American music. This professional group has been featured on the radio since 1976. Currently, they are working on a new album to be released shortly.

Trish Schaeffer will be returning to Maxwell Days. Ms. Schaeffer is a professional from Chicago who has appeared in several movies and commercials. She performs showtunes of the 30s and 40s.

The highlight of Friday evening is Steve Richards. Mr. Richards' claim to fame is his absolutely believable impersonation of Neil Diamond. His impersonation is so spectacular, Richards claims he had to summon security to clear the way to a stage during a summer festival last year.

Richards does about 80 shows a year, impersonating Neil Diamond, Elton John, and Elvis. He will be appearing as Diamond, Elton, and Garth Brooks at the Maxwell Days. Don't miss the show which starts at 8 p.m. Friday.

Saturday kicks off with the Lakes Area Community Band at noon. Famous for their sounds of big show tunes, the band is also a returning favorite to the Taste.

Ronald McDonald and his magic show is sure to be a hit with the little ones. He will be on hand from 1 to 2 p.m. Echo's of Time will follow with their reminiscent 50s and 60s music.

The locally well-known Fabulous Fish Heads will be making their third appearance at the Taste of Antioch. Their rhythm and blues music will keep local toes tapping.

And, speaking of toe-tapping, the nationally famous Honey Bear Dancers will be dancing and singing from 6 to 8 p.m. on Saturday. Performing in over 400 fairs and festivals across the country, they offer the most talented and highly skilled professional dancers and singers in the country.

The band, Grease, will be winding up the entertainment this year. This band styled after the hit film and musical, Grease will delight the audience with their renditions of 50s and 60s music.

Longhorn
Steak House

Just 10 minutes West of Grayslake

Back to the basics at The Longhorn Steak House

The Longhorn Steak House, has a completely updated steak house philosophy to go along with its fresh new look. While continuing their legacy of delicious food, the restaurant has begun to focus on the dietary and economical concerns of the consumer.

"We have reinvented the steak house by using leaner cuts of beef," says owner Paul Glasior. "It's back to the basics the old fashioned way."

In the spirit of this new philosophy, the menu includes a full salad bar with fresh homemade salads available for both lunch and dinner.

"Our soups are made from scratch," explains Glasior. "We use no preservatives." Chef Ron makes the soups and salads fresh everyday.

Along with leaner cuts of meat, the steakhouse has fresh seafood daily. A fish fry of fresh lake perch is featured every Friday night. And that's not all. Fresh fish offerings of swordfish, grouper, yellow-fin tuna, and Norwegian salmon are also available.

The restaurant is centrally located. Only 10 minutes from Grayslake and 15 minutes from Mundelein. The Longhorn Steak House is located on Route 120 in McHenry, just 2 1/2 miles west of Route 12. The Longhorn is open seven days a week. Lunch is served Monday through Friday from 11:30 a.m. until 2:30 p.m. Dinner is served Monday through Saturday from 5:00 p.m. until 10:00 p.m.

The Longhorn also offers a country brunch. Start your Sunday off by stopping by from 9:00 a.m. until 1:30. Or, give yourself a break and enjoy a Sunday dinner. On Sundays, dinner is served between 3:00 p.m. until 8:00 p.m.

In 1994, the new banquet facilities will be completed. The new facilities will be able to hold up to 800 people and reservations are now being taken. Unlike most hotel facilities, the banquet hall at the Longhorn is owned and run by individual owners.

"We don't want anyone to feel like they are lost in the shuffle," promises Glasior. "Chef Ron will be doing all of the cooking."

So, now is the time to book that party, banquet, or seminar for 1994! And, for that smaller party the Longhorn can accommodate parties, weddings, or other special events you may have planned. No party is too big. Call or stop in to make arrangements.

For those of you who have never tried the cuisine at The Longhorn, stop by the McHenry Food Festival in McHenry this weekend. The steakhouse will be serving roast prime rib of beef, English cut, on a fresh hardroll. A variety of stone ground mustards and thin sliced Bermuda onions top off this excellent fare.

Reservations are recommended on the weekends, but if you do not have one, a brief wait in the beautiful Longhorn Lounge can also be a treat. For reservations or more information call (815) 385-9869.

Pilot charged after crashing in Pistakee Lake

by MARK HAHN

Lakeland Newspapers

John R. Diebel, 30, of 36423 S. Hutchins Rd., Gurnee, is lucky that all he sustained was a broken leg after the ultralight he was piloting crashed in the middle of Pistakee Lake in Fox Lake, but Diebel is now being charged with reckless behavior.

According to Jim Bryant, sergeant at the Lake County Sheriff's Office Marine Base, "In Diebel's statement to police, Diebel had taken off in a westerly direction into the wind. At approximately 50 feet above the water, a gust of wind 'grabbed' his plane while the plane's nose was pointed down, causing it to crash into the water."

According to witnesses at the scene, Diebel practiced the maneuver, beginning approximately 500 feet above the water and then cutting the engine and diving turning from left to right. Within 20-25 feet of the surface, he would turn the engine back on and accelerate to gain altitude. On one of these maneuvers, Diebel apparently flew too low, crashing into Pistakee Lake.

Bryant said that although no one witnessed the crash itself, the two witnesses as well as two Lake County Sheriff's Police officers saw Diebel diving over the lake shortly before the crash. He also said that the lake was crowded with weekend boaters at the time.

"Charges were filed based on the fact that two officers as well as two other people saw him flying recklessly 15 minutes before the accident," Bryant said.

Diebel was treated at the scene by the Fox Lake Fire Department, and taken to Northern Illinois Medical Center in McHenry for further treatment. Diebel is listed in fair condition.

"This guy's been asking for it because what he was doing wasn't safe for the boaters," said Jim Busch, a Fox Lake resident. "This guy's been buzzing boats for the past three weeks—he would swoop like a bird down to the boats and then swoop back up again, so basically, it was an accident waiting to happen."

Diebel refused to comment, and said only that he would give a statement concerning the accident at a later date.

There are minimum regulations concerning ultralights because they are unlicensed aircraft, and they are also experimental.

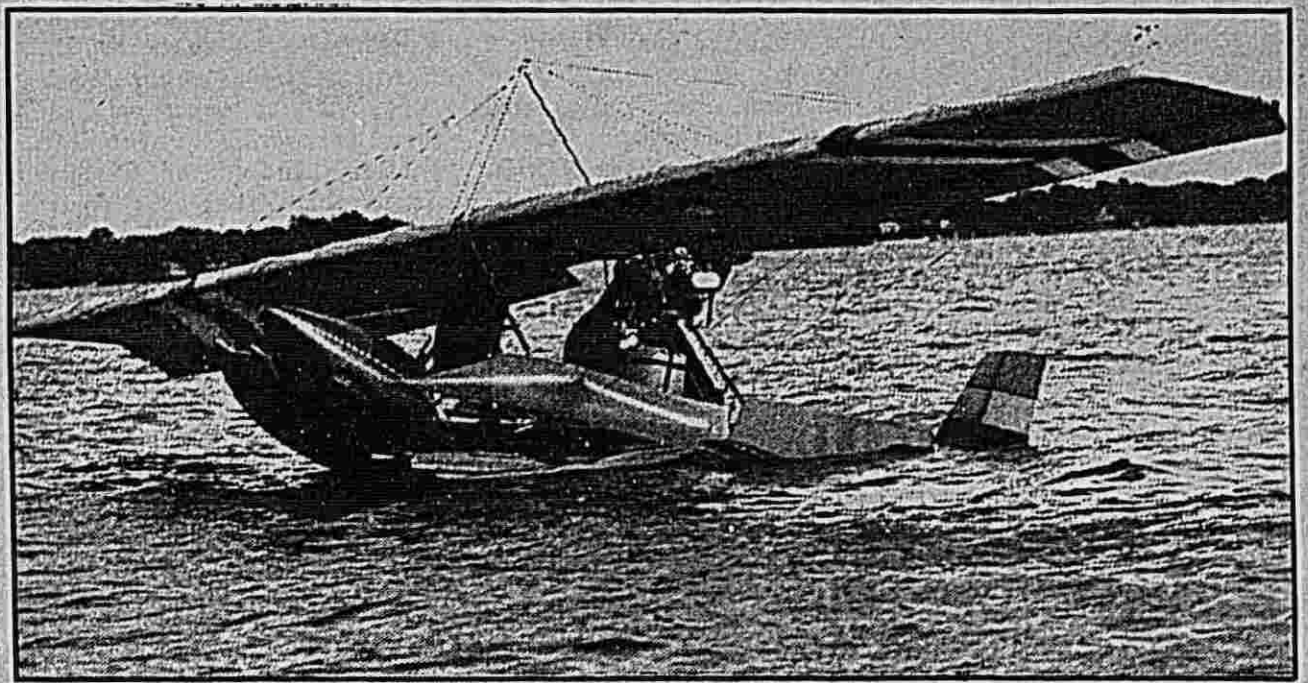

The Federal Aviation Administration is currently investigating the incident to determine whether or not Diebel violated any FAA regulations concerning minimum safe altitudes.

Under the Federal Aviation Administration, except when necessary for take-off or landing, no person may operate an aircraft:

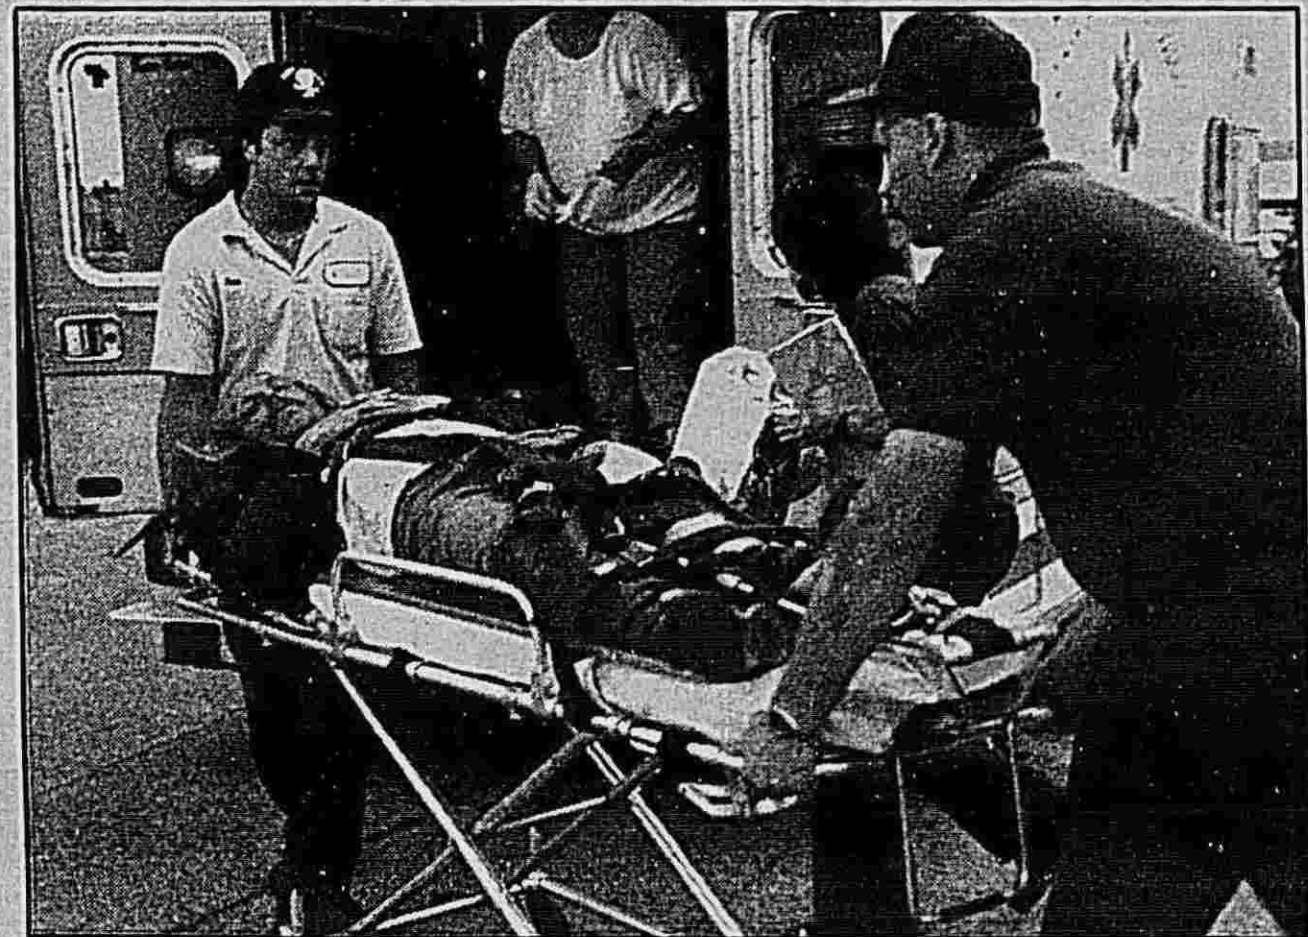

- If a power unit fails, an altitude must allow for an emergency landing which will not cause hazard to persons or property on the surface.
- Over any congested area of a city, town, or settlement, or over any open air assembly of persons, and an altitude of 1,000 feet above the highest obstacle within a horizontal radius of 2,000 feet of the aircraft.
- Over other than congested areas, an aircraft must fly an altitude of 500 feet above the surface, except over open water or sparsely populated areas. In those cases, the aircraft may not be operated closer than 500 feet to any person, vessel, vehicle or structure.

Illinois State Law does not permit aircraft vehicles from coming within 200 feet of persons, vessels, vehicles or structures.

Diebel's ultralight, a one man Max. A.R.V. Drifter, is being stored at Baker Marine in Fox Lake. Damage is valued at $20,000.

The ultralight a Gurnee pilot was flying crashed into Pistakee Lake. The pilot, John R. Diebel, was transported to Northern Illinois Medical Center and suffered a broken leg. Diebel was later charged with reckless behavior.—Photos by Bill Carey

'Summer Stock' —a medley of area talent

"Summer Stock," a display of fine art including fabric art, botanical watercolors, quilting, portraits, paper art and more is on display at the Community Gallery of Art at the College of Lake County. The array of art pieces are the works of Lake County artists, all who exhibit regularly in ARTcetera, CLC's sales and rental gallery.

"During the summer, we're free to do something different in the gallery," said Audrey Stoller, assistant curator/exhibit coordinator at the Community Gallery. "We decided it would be nice to highlight artists in ARTcetera."

The ARTcetera gallery includes a broad sampling of artistic works created by Lake County artists. Art pieces include oils, watercolors, sculpture, drawing, mixed medias, etchings, ceramics, photography, wearable art and jewelry. All artwork is available for sale or rent.

Some of the artists who exhibit in ARTcetera are discovered at art fairs. "I go to every art fair I can. I'm limited to people who work or live in Lake County. There are so many artists out there, it's just amazing," said Stoller.

Another avenue for finding artists is the fall exhibit, "Recent Works." The Community Gallery receives nearly 400 pieces for the show of which only 70 to 90 are used. However, Steve Jones, gallery curator, and Stoller go through all the pieces and invite certain artists to exhibit in ARTcetera.

"Some people just walk in and say 'How do I get my work in here?'" said Stoller. She said when choosing artists for the sales gallery, they want a certain look. "It has to be fine art. There's a difference between the craftsman and the crafter. Sometimes it's a fine line."

Twelve ARTcetera artists are exhibiting in "Summer Stock." Each chose three pieces for exhibit. Artists include June Hill Pedigo of Highland Park, a botanical artist. Pedigo works as a freelance biomedical illustrator and the attention to detail shows in her watercolors which include "Fringed Iris."

Bonnie Klehr, of Libertyville, has a background in antique restoration. Some antique letters and art are interspersed in her hand-made woven paper works. Klehr's three pieces, "Evolving I," "Evolving II," and "Victory" symbolize women's self empowerment.

Stephanie Nadolski, of Barrington, has been successful in marketing her works in art fairs throughout the tri-state area. Nadolski's hand-made paper works display a sensitivity to texture, line and form.

Justine Vaughn of Prairie View is a quilt artist. Some of her works have traveled to foreign countries including by CLAUDIA M. LENART

Japan. One of the works on display at "Summer Stock" is "Above the Clouds." Vaughn envisioned this piece while traveling via airplane after her grandmother had died.

Cecilia Lucchesi of Hawthorn Woods is a versatile artist in oils, acrylics, pastels and pen & ink. On display at CLC are three portraits.

Howard Nicholson of Gurnee is a commercial artist. His watercolor sceneries on display include "Drying the Nets."

Also exhibiting at "Summer Stock" are Renee DeLapp, Barrington, watercolors; Russell DeYong, North Chicago, watercolors; Alexis Kanarek, Highland Park, silk collage; Louise Neathery, Lake Bluff, oils; Millicent Snook, Waukegan, oils; and Ginny Woltzen, Lake Villa, mixed media.

"Summer Stock" is on exhibit through Aug. 27. Gallery hours are 8 a.m. to 10 p.m., Monday through Thursday, and 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Friday, through July 30. Hours Aug. 2 to 27 are 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Maui's quiet side

by JIM WARREN
PRESIDENT, NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

If you want to party all night and shop all day, Kaanapali on the island of Maui is the place for you. Want to escape all of that? You're still on the right island. Just take the road to Hana.

A short review. Maui is one of the five major islands of the state of Hawaii. It is shaped like a lop-sided butterfly. Most of the action is on the small wing of this butterfly, which is the west side of the island. Looking for hidden beaches and unspoiled beauty? Head east towards Hana.

56 one-lane bridges, hundreds of hairpin turns and about three hours later you'll find the town Charles Lindbergh once called the most beautiful place on earth. In fact, Lindbergh chose this place to spend his last days on earth. He is buried nearby.

In 1795, the town of Hana boasted a population of over 3,000 and was the launching site for King Kamehameha's conquest of the islands. Now you will find less than 1,000 villagers who can trace their origins back to the first Polynesians to land on the Hawaiian Islands.

Hana is on the "rainy side" of the island. But the reward for giving up an hour of sunshine to an occasional afternoon shower is an array of exotic flowers, lush green foliage and breathtaking waterfalls.

One particularly interesting waterfall is called the Seven Sacred Pools. As the name implies, there are seven pools in a series of waterfalls. You can swim in the pools and dive from one to the next.

Directions to a hidden beach? There is an unmarked path between the community center and a Japanese cemetery, which takes you past green pastures and along the rocky coastline before ending at a volcanic sand beach. Here you'll find a bowl-shaped swimming hole carved out of the red cliffs by the ocean. It is well protected and ideal for a relaxing swim before the hike back.

On your visit to Maui, a day trip to Hana is a must. Better yet, make arrangements to spend the night.

An emotionally charged dramaCritic's Choice

"Cry, The Beloved Country," the Goodman Theatre's adaptation of a novel by Alan Paton with music by Kurt Weill and lyrics by Maxwell Anderson, is a sweeping look at the impact of racial separatism in South Africa.

The play is set in 1946, a time when suppression, tension and occasional violence between blacks and whites was commonplace. The tragedy of looking at this story of two fathers trying to understand the loss of their sons is how slowly things have advanced in the intervening years.

Director Frank Galati has assembled a strong 36-member cast for this nearly three-hour-long season finale.

Ernest Perry Jr. plays a dedicated preacher who has traveled from his small village to Johannesburg to track down his son, Absalom. But before his father can find him, the young man (played by Darius DeHaas) in a rash moment has shot and killed the son of a wealthy landowner from his village.

Perry, haunted by his son's deed, eventually encounters the dead man's father, portrayed by William Norris, who is equally disturbed, especially since his son was a son black rights activist. Both give stunning performances.

Johnny Lee Davenport excels as Jim Kumalo, brother of the preacher, as he forcefully argues for just wages for his fellow miners.

A chorus effectively adds spirit to this emotionally charged drama, with "Lost in the Stars" probably the most moving number.

"Cry, The Beloved Country," which runs through Aug. 8, has a rich undercurrent of quiet dignity and an inspiring hope running through it as it raises the question of whether kindness and love can pay for pain and suffering. Ticket information is available at (312)443-3800.—by Tom Witom

Freeze strawberries

Fresh strawberries won't keep long in the refrigerator, so the freezer is a good storage place. It takes little time and effort to prepare strawberries for freezing, according to Linda Eilks, University of Illinois Extension nutrition and wellness educator.

To preserve that fresh taste of ripe strawberries, freeze them at the peak of harvest. Pick strawberries when ripe because under-ripe berries may taste bitter after freezing, warned Eilks.

Wash the berries in cold water, handling them gently to avoid bruising. Rinse berries, but do not allow them to soak, for the nutrients can leach out into the water.

Next, sort out the best berries of the harvest and discard blemished berries. Hull the strawberries, then slice them or leave them whole.

At this point, strawberries are almost ready for freezing, but not quite. If berries are not treated with an acidic or sugar substance before freezing, they will turn brown. Some people prefer to sweeten the berries before freezing.

For pre-treatment and sweetening, there are several options. One option is to cover the berries with a syrup mixture of three cups of sugar dissolved in four cups of boiling water. Allow 1/2 to 2/3 cup of syrup for each pint of berries.

Another option is to add 2/3 cup of sugar directly to one quart of strawberries and mix gently until juice is drawn from the fruit and the sugar is dissolved.

A final method for treating strawberries is to cover berries with water containing one teaspoon of ascorbic acid to each quart of water.

Ascorbic acid is available in several forms from drug stores and some grocery stores that sell freezing and canning supplies. Eilks recommended using crystalline ascorbic acid because it dissolves more easily in liquids than powder or tablet forms. Follow the manufacturer's directions when using these products.

Pack strawberries into firm containers, leaving 1 1/2 inches of headspace so that the liquid has room to expand.

Although frozen berries will not be as firm as fresh berries, they can still be used in strawberry shortcake or to complement ice cream or other desserts. For the best taste and texture, serve strawberries partially thawed with a few remaining ice crystals.

The quality of strawberries is best if stored in the freezer up to 12 months.

Wheel World

'Firm' good - not great

Who can we believe nowadays? We know what the story is with politicians and weather men. Add to that list Hollywood PR persons who claim that every new movie that comes out is the flick of the century.

One of the biggest hypes of the summer was perpetrated on Tom Cruise's new vehicle, "The Firm." Being believers, we - and a zillion other people - were in line opening night waiting for the season's movie that was guaranteed to out-Hitch Hitchcock. Not!

The plot of the best-selling book is a thrilling one. The cast, topped by that Hollywood goldmine, Cruise, reads like an actors' Who's Who.

The fault here lies in the fact that Sidney Pollack, although a very capable director, is no Alfred Hitchcock, and whoever did the editing should have shortened this one by at least 30 minutes.

Cruise plays an aspiring law student at the top of his class at Harvard. He gets an offer he can't refuse from a small law firm in Tennessee and his life goes downhill from the moment he accepts this bit of good fortune, which includes a house, a Mercedes, country club membership, etc.

He quickly discovers that the firm is mainly engaged in handling money laundering for the Mafia, and that most people at the law firm know what's going on but all are trapped like he is.

The story then turns into a sort of "Stepford Lawyers" with the firm taking over the lives of Cruise and his wife, played capably by Jeanne Tripplehorn.

When the FBI contacts him and wants him to either bring incriminating copies of the firm's files to them, or else go to jail with the rest of its members, his troubles are just beginning.

Will Cruise be able to keep his integrity and his right to practice law without either being killed or going to prison? That's the big question here.

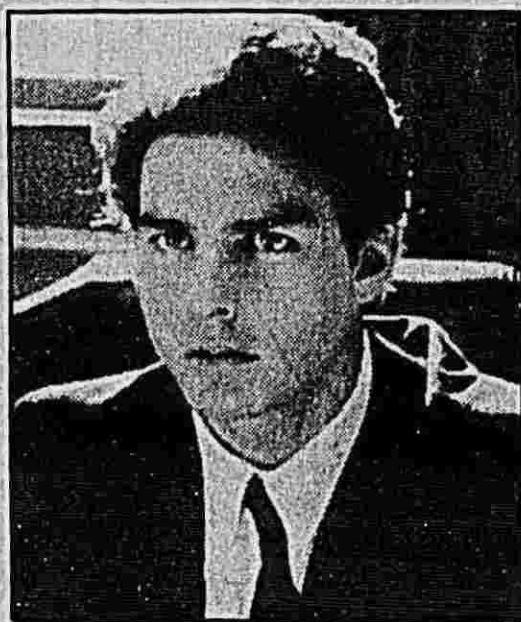

Gene Hackman, as usual, turns in a fine performance as a womanizing executive of the firm. Other evil "Firm" members are well-played by Hal Holbrook and Wilford Brimley.

Gary Bussey does a short but effective stint as a detective doing some investigating for Cruise, while Holly Hunter plays Bussey's sexy, gum chewing secretary, with alacrity.

Pollack's mistake seems to be that he allows the characters to engage in a little too much banter, which disturbs the seriousness of the situations in the movie, and leaves a large hole in the suspense element.

Ed Harris (looking like Daddy Warbucks) makes a good FBI man, and David Strathairn is properly desperate as Cruise's convict brother.

Because we like all these people, and because the film has more than its share of good footage, we are rating it 3.5 out of five stars - good but not great. Worth seeing at $7 a pop? Depends on the size of your wallet, or the size of your crush on Cruise, who's his usual breathtaking self. — by GLORIA DAVIS

Festival honors the roots of storytelling

Some of the nation's most well-known storytellers will be in Spring Grove for the tenth anniversary Illinois Storytelling Festival on Saturday and Sunday, July 24 and 25.

Listeners can hear Syd Lieberman's World War I aviators stories which were commissioned by the Smithsonian Institute, Native American John White's stories and anthropological observations that have been documented by National Geographic and PBS television, or Jim May's Emmy award-winning tribute to his father, as well as a collection of stories depicting the humor and complexity of gender roles called, "Mothers and Other Wild Women" with storytellers Beth Horner, Nancy Donoval and Susan O'Halloran, and much more.

The festival is held rain or shine under large tents in Spring Grove's village park. Though there is ample seating under the tents, and food can be purchased on the grounds, lawn chairs, blankets, and picnic baskets are welcome.

Pre-festival storytelling classes will be held

9 to 11 a.m. on Saturday, July 24 (call ahead to register). The festival itself will begin at noon on Saturday and run until 5 p.m. Square dancing for novice and expert alike featuring traditional Illinois calls will be held from 5:30 to 8 p.m. Ghost Stories will conclude the evening, 9 to midnight. The festival gates reopen Sunday morning at 10 a.m. with spiritual stories, and stories of all kinds continue until 5 p.m. Admission to the festival is $10 for each event (Saturday, Saturday night, and Sunday). Children 12 and under accompanied by a parent are admitted free/seniors pay $7.

Alpine Days to feature family entertainment

The Lake Zurich Lions Club kicks-off its annual Alpine Days Festival Friday, July 16.

Running through July 18, the festival will once again feature a beer garden, food, carnival rides, bingo and three bands playing eclectic styles of music, ranging from country and western to The Beatles.

The event runs from 6 p.m. to midnight July 16, 1 p.m. to midnight July 17 and 1:30 p.m. to 11 p.m. July 18.

There is no admission charge to enter the park, with a $1 fee for adults over 21 years of age to purchase beer and other charges for the carnival rides, bingo and food, Lion Scott Kuba said.

Held since the late 1940s, the proceeds from the festival help the Lions maintain the park, Echo Lake, purchase equipment for the Elia Area Public Library and other activities.

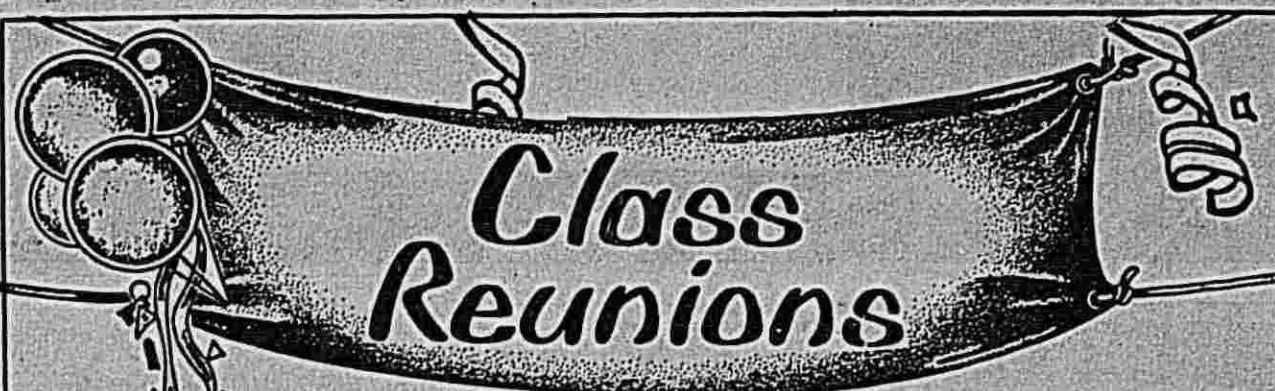

The White Saddle Band, self-described as playing country rock, will perform July 16, with Beach Boys tribute band Catch A Wave playing July 17 and Beatles tribute band American English July 18.

Saturday's session is split in two, with a children's matinee running from 1 p.m. until 4:30 p.m. featuring an "all-you-can-ride" carnival ride extravaganza for $8.

The festival concludes July 18 with the annual Alpine Days Parade beginning at 12:30 p.m. going east on Rte. 22 from Elia Road to Lions Park, and featuring local community groups, marching bands, floats, clowns and Shriners.

A free hearing screening will also be available on Saturday from 1 p.m. until 4 p.m.

Griefnotes

How can I face people since my loved one committed suicide?

You may feel sad, grief stricken, guilty and embarrassed. It is certainly discomforting to have to face friends and neighbors who may not understand or who may themselves be embarrassed and upset. The best way to handle embarrassment is to face the fact that the suicide occurred, express your feelings about it and then begin living again. By acknowledging honestly to others that the death was a suicide you make it possible for friends to talk to you about their feelings and to give you support. This gives you a chance to discuss the death in a healthy manner. When a loved one commits suicide surviving friends and relatives may find it especially helpful to seek some professional counseling to release their intense feelings.

How To Survive The Job Search

By Nancy Sakol

Q: Dear...Search: As a Director of Personnel for a large corporation I tend to interview 30-40 persons per week. I am amazed by how many individuals will cuss, swear and use tainted language during the course of an interview. Please let your readers know that a slip of the tongue could cost you the deciding vote on whether or not a company will accept you for employment. Some corporations have a stringent hiring process. Our corporation, as do many, makes it a point to take notes during the interviewing process. You would be shocked at how many potential employees are turned away because of unsuitable, slang, or harsh language spoken in the interview. Perhaps printing this will help people realize they have been one of these individuals and enable them to curtail this the next time they interview for a position with any employer. Thanks for your informative column and for listening. J.E. - Deerfield

A: Dear J.E. Thank you for your input. It is no question that an individual while interviewing should be aware of his or her language. Yes, it is amazing how often a four or five letter word will slip out of someone's mouth and they are totally unaware of its impact on others as well as themselves. Strong and undesirable language does not belong in an interview no matter how comfortable you may be in that interview. Be on guard! The employer or employer's representative taking notes is taking notes for a reason. The reason is pros, cons, desirable and undesirable factors. Before you open your mouth to speak...collect your thoughts and be sure that what is coming out of your mouth is what you intend for the employer to hear.

Q: Dear...Search: I am one male in a department of three females who are into "male bashing". Each day I sit and listen to these women and I am sick of it! I have let them know how nasty they sound and how frustrating it is for me to have to sit and listen to this each day. Our boss is male and most likely unaware of what is going on. I would like it to stop! They read your column each week while on break. Perhaps when they read this one, they will realize how rude and immature they are acting, and how hurtful some of the things are that they are saying even though they are not directed at me. Sign me...Frustrated in Libertyville

A: Dear Frustrated, I don't blame you for the way that you feel. If you think you are frustrated...imagine how miserably frustrated these women are to have to carry on this way. They say that "misery loves company". Let them know how you feel and that you would appreciate them putting the "male bashing" to rest. If that does not work, try reminding them that it was a male who got them their job. Good luck!

Note: Nancy Sakol is a licensed personnel professional and President of Superior Personnel in Gurnee. Letters can be sent to Nancy at 5101 Washington St., Gurnee, IL 60031.

Loved the parade

I am calling from Round Lake Beach. What in the heck kind of 4th of July parade was that? There was no American flag, marching bands, or veterans. Just a bunch of softball players yelling for the spectators to throw them candy. What happened to the boy scouts, girl scouts, the Salvation Army band, anything? The only business represented were one real estate office, a funeral home, and a pizza delivery car. Last, but not least, who ends a parade with Elvis impersonator? Only Round Lake Beach. What an embarrassment.

Like celebration

I am from Round Lake. I would like to applaud Round Lake for their 4th of July celebration. It is about time they did something for its townspeople.

Fee blues

I would like to complain about the $3 fee per person for the Mundelein Pageant. No other community charges and why is Mundelein money hungry. It would be a great place to come, but with the $3 fee - no more.

Legitimate gripe

Where do the residents of Fox Lake, Ingleside, Lake Villa, and Grayslake shop, bowl, golf, swim, and watch fireworks? That's right, Round Lake. I am tired of your nasty comments about us. I think you are just jealous.

Not a clue

To whoever is building the "thing" on the corner of Central Park and Hillwood, Round Lake Beach already has a Pizza Hut.

Good idea

I have an idea of Lakeland Newspapers. They should have a kid's corner so kids can call in and do all sorts of stuff.

Thanks to all

I was the co-chairperson of the Antioch Children's Festival. I want to thank everyone who pitched in and helped. It was truly a community effort. I would like to thank all the kids for participating and being such good sports.

Nope, have a bird

I am from Round Lake Beach. Since this is my third call, I have come to the conclusion that the editor of Lipservice owns a barking dog.

Picking up the bill

Lake Villa, remember. If our taxes pay the highway department, they also pay the wages of the employees and elected officials. Oh boy, these politicians.

A generous thank you

I'd like to say a big thank-you to Ted Axton and the Antioch Lions Club. I want to thank you for the generous donation you made for my Jamaica trip. Thank you very much. From, Jerry Van Patten.

No fireworks

I am a business owner in Fox Lake and want to comment on the decision to postpone the fireworks. We business owners count on these holidays to keep our businesses going. Nice work, Mineola Midget mayor. You are putting our town six feet under.

Broad brush

I think it is a terrible shame when a person has to degrade a whole town and everyone in it. I do not think everyone who lives in Round Lake is a typical, uncaring, irresponsible parent. However, it is irresponsible to make such sweeping generalities.

Very bugged

I have had it with these crawling, annoying earwigs. Could anyone out there tell me how to rid my home of these short of calling an exterminator? I am from Antioch and enough is enough.

Editorial note: Dear Reader, it is rumored that the pages of Lipservice, after the entire family has read it, makes an excellent earwig swatter.

Anti-bicycle rider

It seems that the bicyclists in the area are daring drivers to hit them. They will not move over far enough to the right for anyone to pass them. Also, if we the car drivers have to pay for a license, why don't they?

Aspersions on manhood

I hope the Gurnee fireman enjoyed his Mountain Dew at work since you did not care to respond back to me. All I wanted was to be a friend, but I guess you were not man enough to handle it. It was fun. Good bye.

Tough work

Reorganizing Round Lake Beach is not an easy job. Good luck to all of you there and thanks to Jo Garret for all the work she has done so far.

Grass is always taller

The people who own the property on Wilson Road in Ingleside need to do something to that yard. The weeds, and grass need to be cut. We are trying to improve the look of our neighborhood and you need to do something.

Area athletes strike gold in Prairie State

Karl, Heldman spark basketball contingents

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

When one goes up against a player with the shot-blocking ability of Pricilla Rosenthal, one might have a tendency to change the strategy and be tentative. North Shore overcame that and won 84-71 in the women's scholastic basketball title game at the 1993 Prairie State Games in Champaign.

North Shore faced that obstacle in the first half of the title battle with Blue-Gray. The 6-foot-3 Rosenthal would dare any Gator to enter the paint.

"I think we weren't making some easy layups in the first half. We were over-anxious. In the second half, we were more relaxed. Coach (Tom Kendall) said before the game to drop off as much as possible on her," Kelly Karl said.

Karl directed the Gators' offense from her familiar point guard position. She scored four points in the title game and had numerous key assists.

North Shore trailed by four points, 31-27, at halftime and led by that margin with 3:55 left. A 19-10 run just when the Gators needed it sealed the second straight gold medal.

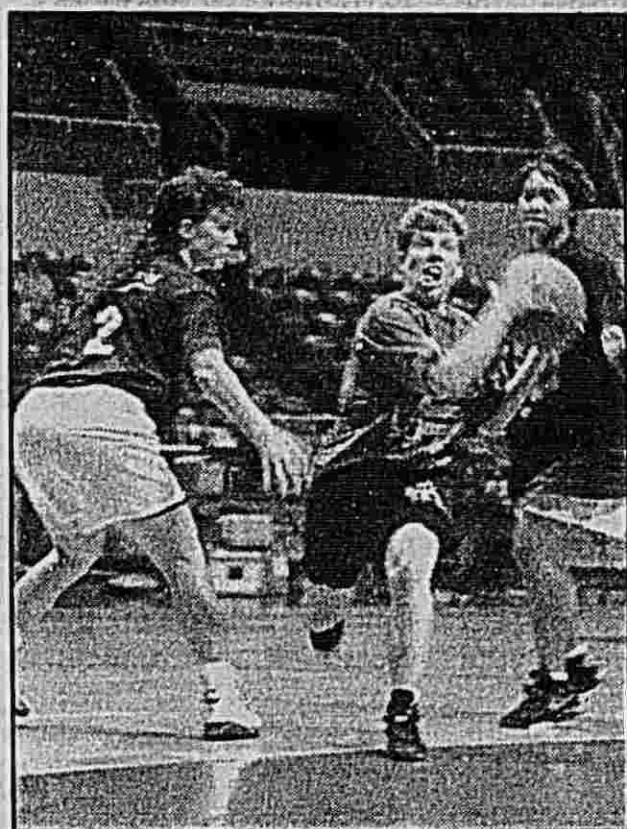

Nicole Vasey of Lake Zurich was one of three players who were given the task of stopping BG's inside game.

"We wanted to make sure they did not get anything inside. To their credit, their guards are excellent shooters out there. With our help defense, that gave us a lot of problems. We had Kim Johnson, a 6-3 center, Vasey, a 6-1 center and Abby Willenborg, a 6-2 center, so we had some big girls to throw at her," Kendall said.

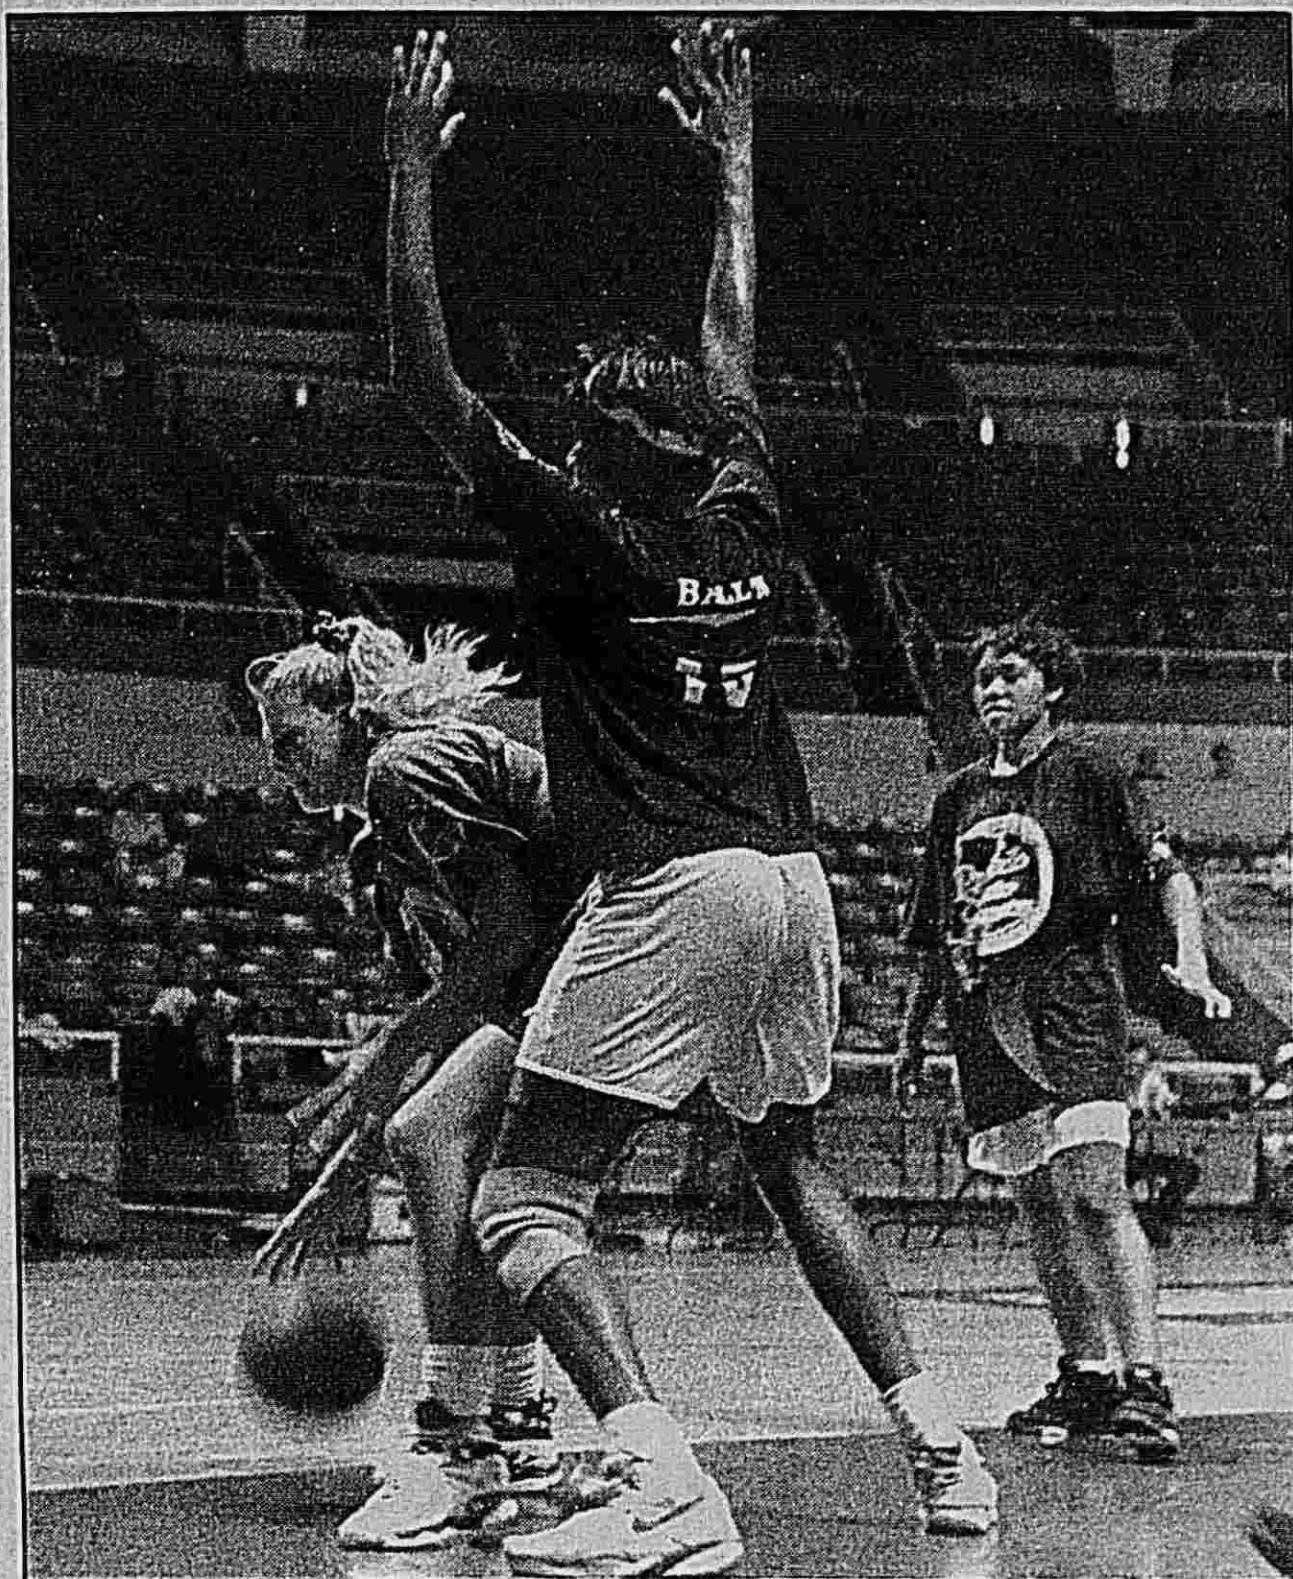

"I told Vasey after the game that she will be a good ballplayer if she works hard and will develop into more down the line," Kendall said.

Kendall had praise for Karl's ability to run the offense with the longer court at a stuffy Assembly Hall.

"Her and Lynerice (Lush) are two different players. Lush will take it to the middle while Kelly is more of a pass-it-around" (Continued on Page 54)

Women's soccer sides end first, third in Games

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

The two matches were contested a mere hill apart at the soccer fields on Florida Avenue in Champaign on Sunday.

In fact, if one timed it just right, one could watch all eight goals as the North Shore Scholastic Women's team battled Pioneer region and the North Shore Open Women's team battled Southern.

The Open women continued to dominate the competition with a 3-0 win and their third straight title while the scholastic women fell 2-0 on penalty kicks and settled for the bronze medal.

"We played the possession game to our advantage," North Shore Open coach Randy Derosse said.

Kristy Twarogowski scored one goal and Holly May two for the winners.

Libertyville's Jori Seymour and Kim Marshall are used to playing in title games in Champaign in July's heat. They were part of the North Shore scholastic dynasty which won eight straight gold medals.

"It's wonderful. We played well together, especially today," Seymour, who now plays at the University of Kentucky, said.

"I had a good team that played well together. We had a wide-open offense," Derosse said.

While the open women were celebrating the three-peat, the scholastic bunch was wondering what went wrong.

"We played well, but we could not finish them off," Libertyville's Erica Chung said.

That was the case throughout this 10th Prairie State Games.

"For a majority of the matches we passed the ball well, but had a hard time finishing."

"Against West Central on Friday, I think they had three opportunities to score, scored one in the first half. In the second half they barely got the ball over the midline against us. We showed some nice determination and came back on Megan McBride's goal, but ended up with a 1-1 tie against a team we probably should have beat. Then we played Wilco it was the same kind of thing. We dominated, they struggled, they had two or three chances to our 35 but we won only 3-0," North Shore coach Bob Wilhelm said.

Jones, Hays recall key factors in prep success

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

The season was 15 wrestling years ago now, but Mike Jones remembers it like it was yesterday.

"It was just that my coach, Bob Thierry, stressed positive mental attitude," Jones said.

Jones considers himself retired from competitive wrestling now, and the North Chicago native resides and works in Bloomington. The audience was a few wrestling fanatics, family members and hangers-on when Jones proudly clutched his gold medal from the 220-pound division.

Jones is a 10-year veteran of the decade-old Prairie State Games and has been a force every year in Champaign. He has several PSG medals at his Bloomington home.

A worker at the Diamond Star car plant, he follows the dire economic straits of North Chicago High closely.

"It's typical. It was the same way when I was there. The facilities were decent, and the coaching was great," Jones said.

Jones wrestled for Coach George Girardi at Illinois State University.

"When I came to ISU, I was not very strong. When the first wrestling season started, I could only beat one other wrestler in the room. When the season ended, only one could beat me," Jones said.

Another area wrestler who recalls his day in Champaign as a high school wrestler is Norman Hays. Hays finished second in the state in 1986 for Mundelein.

"Now I wrestle just for fun," Hays said.

Hays garnered second at 286 to Coach Taylor of West Central with a 10-0 defeat. It was Hays' fourth PSG medal.

Hays is a project manager for CareMark Health Care Inc., a Lincolnshire-based firm.

Like Jones, Hays went on to wrestle at ISU.

"I need to wrestle more frequently and I would like to start wrestling more," he said.

Mundelein assistant wrestling coach Mark Pflug received a phone call from North Shore open men's division coach Neal Weiner two weeks before PSG.

Pflug reached the title bout with Mark Hughes of West Central before falling 10-0.

"He was quick and I was too much out of shape," Pflug said.

Pflug, a previous champion at PSG, directs the Wrestling Factory in Grayslake.

Wildcats' Eggert returns to familiar role as champ

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

Libertyville High School wrestling Coach Dale Eggert returned to the form which gained him a not a three-peat, but an eight-peat at the Prairie State Games.

Eggert downed two opponents in the 136.5-pound open men's division to gain the top honor at Champaign. Neither Rich Orelak of Wilco nor Matt Grimm of West Central could score a point on Eggert, as he won 12-0 and 11-0 in quick fashion Saturday.

"The big thing is something to shoot for over the summertime. I can train hard because school is not in session," Eggert said.

Eggert, 37, regularly works out during LHS practices and some older wrestlers.

In fact the Wildcats, who did quite nicely in the men's scholastic division, cheered their own coach on to victory.

There were no referees on the wrestling mats ready to call matches — such is the state of funding for the PSG these days — so Eggert stepped in and helped.

"I would rather not when I am competing, but they need all the help they can get. The guys who know the freestyle rules the best help out," Eggert said.

The first opponent, Orelak, was "hard to wrestle because he wanted to wrestle on his knees," Eggert said.

Rob Porter, coach for Blue-Gray region, won last year at 136.5 pounds, and he moved up to 149.5 pounds, where he won it this year.

Eggert was one of only four open men competing at 136.5 pounds.

As for those LHS wrestlers competing in the scholastic division, Preston Sellers led the way with a third at 171 pounds.

Dave Camita won two matches at 145 pounds.

Fencers earn Games gold

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

A veteran fencer and a relative newcomer to the sport both had something in common when they reported for a workout Monday night.

David Delgado and Julie Pask both were proudly displaying medals earned at the Prairie State Games in Champaign this weekend. Both are members of the College of Lake County Fencing Club, a group of 20-25 members.

The unusual part about this duo is the experienced fencer will be a sixth-grader at Woodland Junior High next month.

David Delgado won the gold in scholastic sabre and bronze in scholastic foil and scholastic épée during the 10th PSG Games. He has been involved with fencing since he was four.

"He is doing real well. He is doing everything I want him to do," Dave's dad, Fernando, said.

Julie Pask of Round Lake Beach took the gold in the épée and second in the foil. She beat fellow club member Diane Ebert of Mundelein in the épée.

"Foil is usually not my weapon. It is different than épée and sabre because each has a different way of getting points. With the épée, it is the whole body which is the target," Pask said.

Pask said the club members support one another a great deal, but once the referee says "fence," friendship ends until a winner is decided.

"The whole club is like an extended family," Pask said.

Pask, a systems analyst for Manpower, hopes to make nationals soon.

Dave Delgado, of Gurnee, is at that level, as he competed in a meet at Colorado Springs, gaining third place.

"I want to finish in the top three or four. It will take more practice and look for what they do during the fencing matches," Dave Delgado said.

Fernando Delgado, meanwhile, will be spreading the word about the sport of fencing. A science teacher at Woodland, he offered a mini-course. "We had 64 students sign up and 20 made it through the course. I would like to expand it next year," he said.

Men's club members did not win medals at the 10th PSG, but did gain places.

Tsafir Cobin, ex-University of Illinois fencer and Buffalo Grove resident, finished second in men's foil. Fernando Delgado was fourth, followed by Paul Rogers of Mundelein in seventh, Robert Popke (who was also fourth in men's sabre) of Hawthorn Woods ninth.

It was a clean sweep for the county in the women's épée. Meridith Carlson of Wauconda took third behind Pask and Ebert.

In other PSG medal winners, the Libertyville connection of Arian Adams, Lauren Chamberlain and Lindsey Celba helped the North Shore scholastic women gain a bronze medal.

David Delgado and Julie Pask show won medals at The Prairie State Games.

Third Lake golf artisan earns PCS certification

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

A dozen years ago, Stanley Kushida was looking for a 4-wood.

"I could not afford one," Kushida said.

Kushida these days works tirelessly in his Third Lake golf shop, SK Custom Golf Clubs. He has attained a certification from the Professional Clubmaker Society, one of just over 200 persons to do so.

"Mostly now, I think it is two-fold. One is consumer awareness is sharper. The customer is very much more educated," Kushida said. "Also, economics. Custom clubs by a small, local club maker generally are cheaper if he is certified to customize the club, having gone to some kind of formal education."

"The PCS is very proud of its Class A Clubmakers," said Elmore Just, executive director of the PCS. "At a time when custom-built golf equipment is booming in popularity, our Class A clubmakers will be the ones golfers depend on for top-quality product, hand-crafted to the highest standards."

Kushida had to properly answer 80 percent of 230 questions and construct clubs from the parts sent by PCS, a not-for-profit firm base in Louisville, Ky. The testing is part of the PCS's mission to promote and elevate the standards of custom club making.

"You had one week to complete all the questions and to find out as many answers as you can. That is including the questionnaire and making the four clubs to their specifications using their parts. The hardest part about it was working 70 hours a week and getting it in within a week and getting it packaged and mailing it to them," Kushida said.

The test was open-book format, but it did make him think about the subject matter further.

"Many items were theory rather than fact," he said.

Kushida, a Round Lake Beach resident, started in the customized golf field as a hobby, then started a business six years ago and moved in to Wright Way Shopping Plaza in Third Lake five years ago. He is proprietor and sole employee.

Golf has been hurt by the soggy spring, with near-record rainfall amounts. "Everytime the golfers want to go out, it rains," he said.

The store is open year-round. Christmas is busy as Kushida repairs and refits clubs, making them look like new.

Kushida may obtain pre-made clubs that are nationally advertised through the Bob Toski line. "Their quality is excellent," he said.

Costs range from $300 to $500. "Some people think they need more, others say they need less," Kushida said.

A dynamic fitting gets the measurements while a golfer is swinging, Kushida said.

"I can critique their swing so I can make the best use of their ability so they do not outgrow their clubs," he said.

Chiefs to prepare for K.C. tourney with suburban tilts

Lake County Chiefs clubs, fresh off qualifying for national tournaments, found a mixed bag of results.

The 12-year-olds finished second in their pool at LaCrosse, Wis. while the 11-year-olds had to settle for one win in four games in LaCrosse.

The Chiefs downed Waukegan 10-4 for the win in the 11-year-old bracket. Clark Collins of Waukegan led the hitting with three safeties and an RBI. Walt Hanson of Waukegan was 2-for-4 with two RBIs.

Nester Toro of Gurnee was 2-for-4 with one RBI.

Joe Ratliff and John McEvilla had four strikeouts each in two innings. Wes Peet had two and Mac Mansavage one.

The 11-year olds now compete in the Northwest Suburban League, leading up to their trip to Kansas City July 31. They face Arlington Heights July 18 and host Hoffman Estates at Trinity College July 20.

The team is in a tourney at the Sports Complex in Kenosha July 23-25.

The 12-year-olds managed a 10-1 win over Palatine. Steve Strube was the winning pitcher in a game which saw the Chiefs rally from an 8-2 deficit.

The Comeback Chiefs rallied for nine runs in the fifth inning for an 11-8 win over LaCrosse Boys Club. Derek Hall of Lake Forest and Bo Burnett of Gurnee paced the offense with two RBIs.

Corey Jenkins was the winning pitcher in a 10-1 win over Palatine. Burnett had two homers and Thompson and Jenkins had one each.

Soccer

The team was then off from Saturday morning until bright-and-early at 8 a.m. Sunday. It took a comeback to tie South-ern 2-2.

"We showed some great determination. We got one on a throw-in play that Gretchen Schmidke knocked in and tied it up with about 10 minutes to go when Cindy Reyes skipped-headed it in," Wilhelm said.

North Shore appeared to have the first tally of the match but it was ruled Pioneer's goalie recovered in time to stop the shot.

"We definitely had the better half of the first half," Wilhelm said.

Then came the two second-half penalty kicks, both by Robyn Smith.

"There is nothing you can do except guess," North Shore goalie Jenny Spalla said.

"She is a very underrated goalie. She led her team (Schaumburg) to the state title a month ago," Wilhelm said.

"We seemed to lack that little extra bit of Gator luck that in the end has been there. The effort was tremendous," Wilhelm said.

In addition to Chung, area representatives wearing the bronze included: Julie Knabb of Stevenson and the following Wildcats: Missy Kahn, Mandy McLean, Jenna Sorensen and Mary Zurek.

the-perimeter. Both did a super job of running the offense. Kelly does a great job of running the fastbreak, spotting people out on the wing. She (Karl) never stops going."

Six of the girls played with North Shore before. "We try to do a lot of things together," Kendall said.

This was Kendall's fourth year as North Shore coach, second time as a gold medal winner.

Karl was part of the one-two Libertyville punch who came home wearing the gold. Matt Heldman stepped up with 25 points, including five three-pointers, as the North Shore Scholastic Men downed Blue-Gray 106-94 in a comeback.

"We had a pretty good team that played well together. I'm just going to keep working on my game," Heldman said.

Libertyville and Mundelein's boys teams play at the Morris shootout this weekend and the rest of the month is booked up with camps for the 'Cats senior, who led the team to the Sweet Sixteen.

RL Legion second

One could not blame the Round Lake Legion baseball team for using some clutch pitching from someone new to the pitching mound and timely hitting throughout to come home with a second-place honor from a Racine tournament.

The downside was the Round Lake squad was in the midst of an eight-game run in eight days and then dropped two games to Vernon in District 10 play. Both teams are in district tournament this week.

"We had some strong, timely hitting and the defense was good," Round Lake manager Ron Sapochak said.

Round Lake fell to Vernon 6-1 Monday. The squad earned a 7-6 win over Libertyville under unusual circumstances Friday and shutout Lake Zurich 7-0.

But in the Racine tourney, Ryan Bauer got things going with a five-inning, 13-3 win over Naperville. That came off a 2-1 loss to Racine as Scott Schupp pitched well.

Scott Muellemann, who threw a two-hitter against Lake Zurich, did the same in a 2-0 win over Burlington, Wis.

The team then had to call on the newcomer in the third and final game against Lakes Region.

"Joe had not pitched all year, but he did a great job," Sapochak said.

Round Lake (12-5) was down 4-1 before it rallied. Bauer delivered the key triple to tie the game.

The team also rallied against Libertyville, but that was called due to the Libertyville catcher being ejected and the home team having just nine players.

"That was the second time that has happened. It happened the first time I managed a game this season against Lake Zurich," Sapochak said.

On Monday, it was just too much Jeff Turnbull and Vernon for Round Lake to handle.

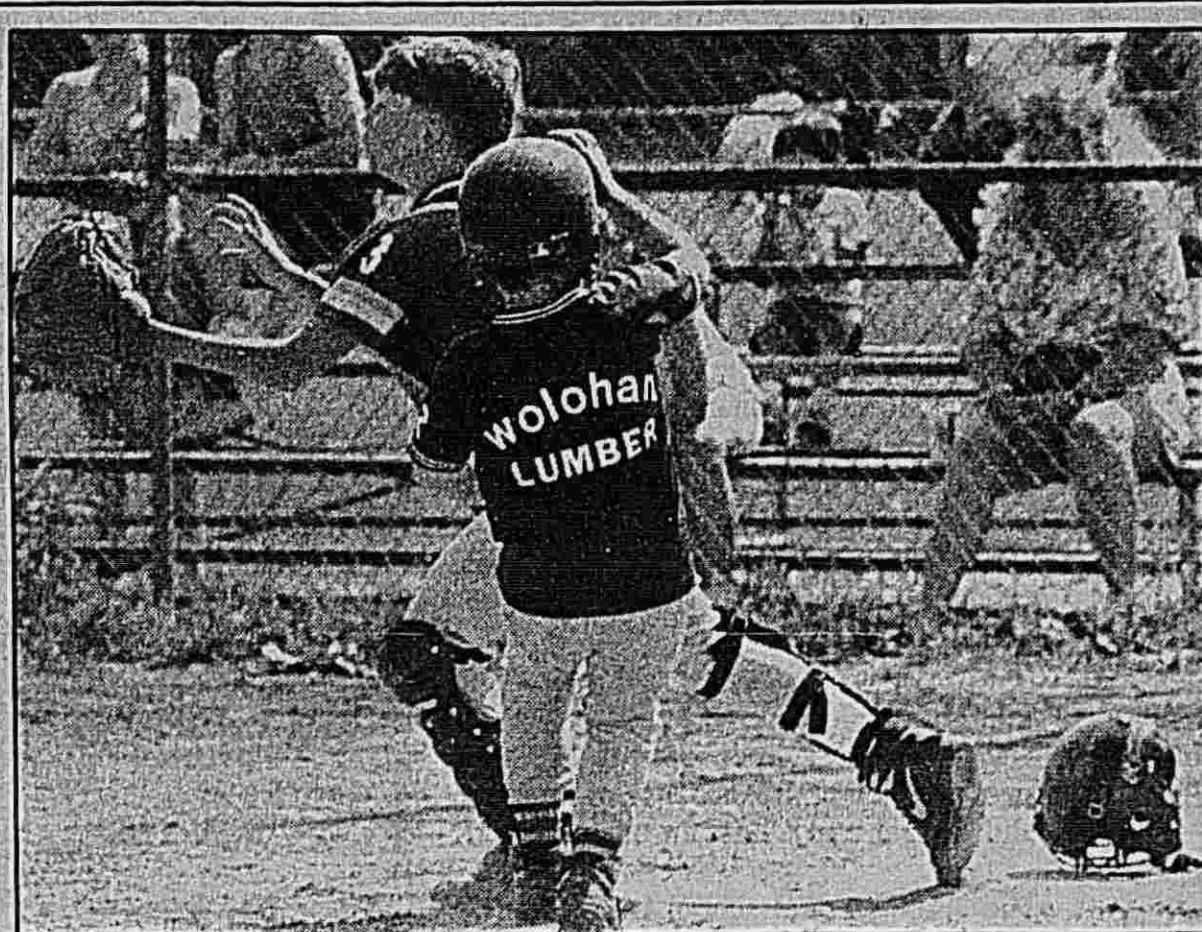

Turnbull allowed just four hits, struck out six and had no walks as Vernon improved to 15-7-2, 7-1-1 in District 10.

"He was changing speeds well and keeping them off stride," Vernon manager Steve Breen said.

"I think we have a good chance in the tournament, if the high school summer season does not interfere too much," Breen said.

Mark Piggott was 2 for 4 with two RBIs; Turnbull proved to be a force at the bat as well, with a 3 for 4 with two RBIs; John Wasco had two hits and scored a run.

Vernon scored three runs in the first, two in the fifth and one in the sixth inning.

Grayslake's Waldenstrom ready for college challenge

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

This may come as a shock to anyone who has tried to mark her in soccer, guard her in basketball, or felt the sudden impact of one of her spikes.

"When I first moved here, I thought this was a small town. I did not know if I would fit in," Allison Waldenstrom said.

Waldenstrom spent the first eight grades at North Aurora, Colo.

Four years later, Waldenstrom is a household word in the Grayslake sports and academic community. The three-sport star in basketball, volleyball and soccer was honored by the Grayslake Exchange Club as its Student of the Year for her athletic and academic skills. The club presented Waldenstrom with a $500 check.

Waldenstrom has had a banner year by any standards. She was on the volleyball team which won the regional title and conference championship for the first time in a decade; was crowned Homecoming Queen and finished second in her graduating class. And that was before the year turned to 1993.

She was the most valuable player for basketball and soccer, and for the second straight year, was named female athlete of the year. She earned all-state honors in soccer.

"Winning the most valuable player as a junior was the biggest thrill because that award usually goes to a senior," Waldenstrom said.

A National Honor Society member, Waldenstrom was also on the academic team.

Waldenstrom has snared another honor rare for a Ram. She has earned a full-ride to Kalamazoo (Mich.) College.

Part of her education at the Division II school will be a year-long study overseas, probably in Spain. She will major in pre-med.

"I always wanted to be a doctor," she said.

She chose the school, next to Western Michigan University, because of its "very solid ethical and Christian background," she said.

The 1,100-student school is considered elite at $20,000 a year to attend. Her father, Carl, reports Allison received more than 500 scholarship offers.

"The class size ratio is 11-1 and the professors teach all their classes — there are no teaching assistants," he said.

As for sports, she will begin tryouts Aug. 23 for a volleyball team which advanced to the Division II title match. For her first year at least, she will try to compete in basketball and soccer as well.

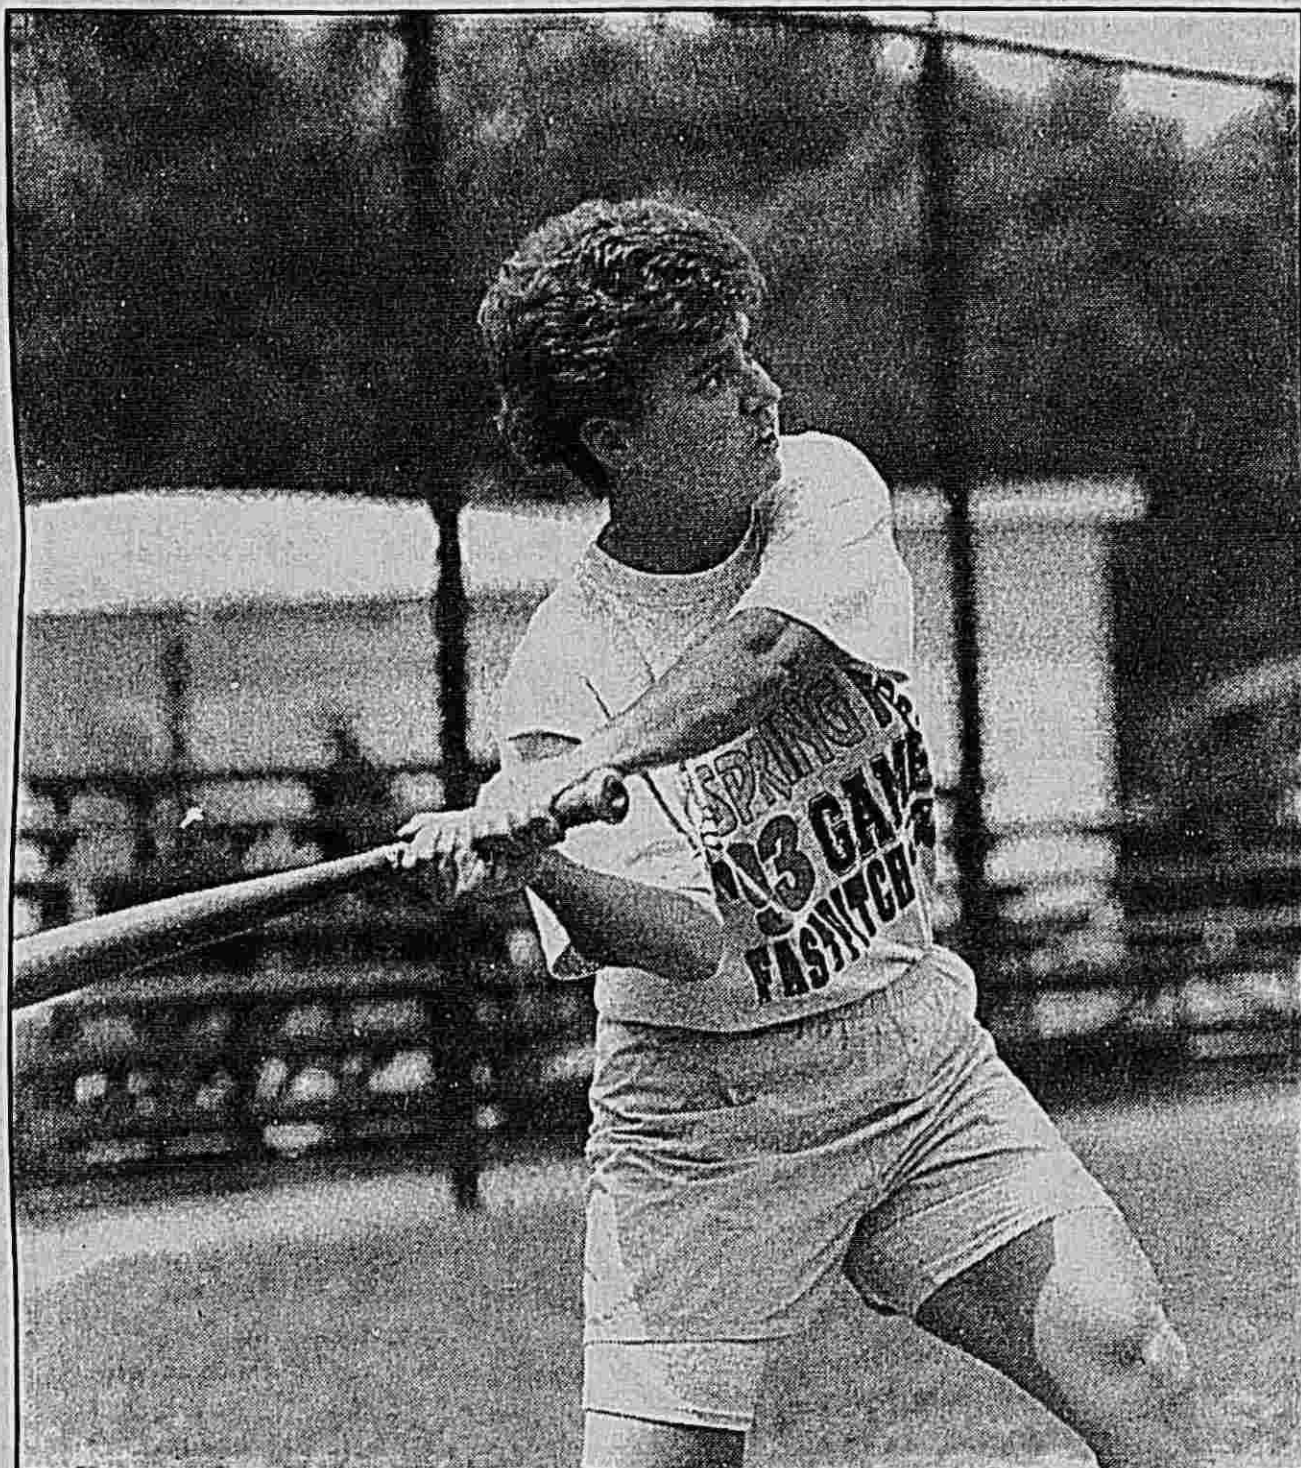

Waldenstrom faces some tough good-byes. She could be found this summer in Grayslake Coach Dan Stacey's volleyball camp, volunteering, giving a pointer or two.

"I miss it already," Waldenstrom said.

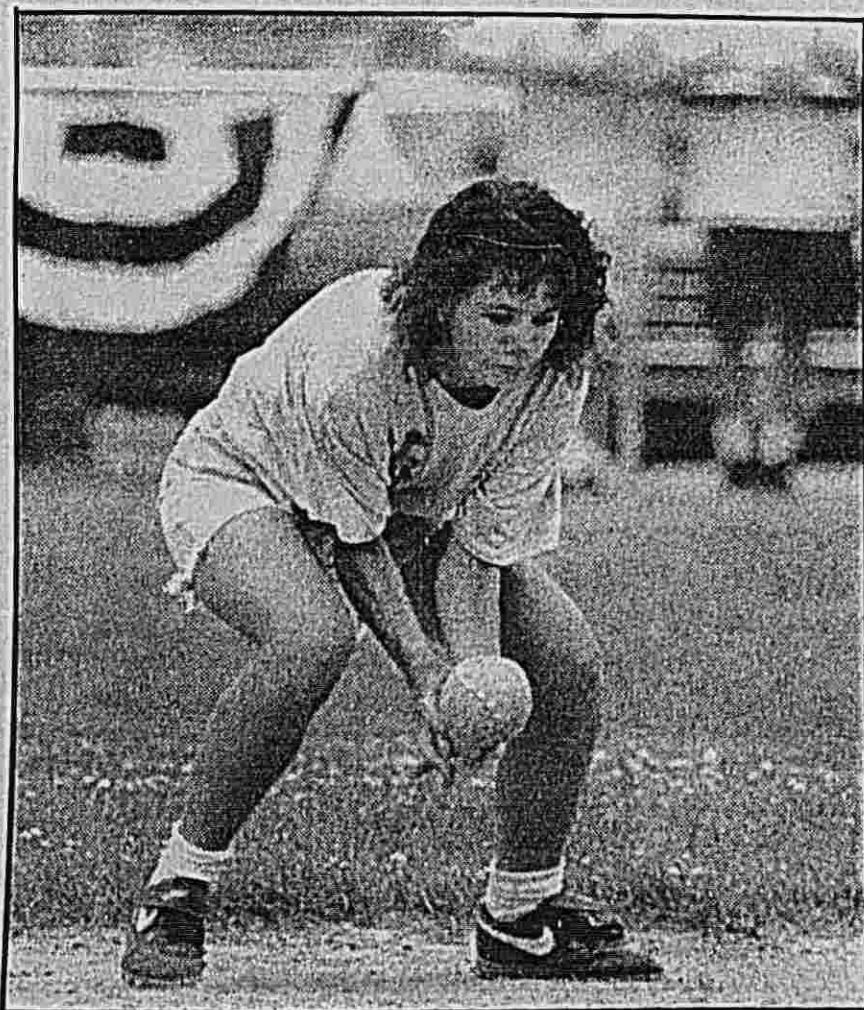

The Grayslake Exchange Club honors Allison Waldenstrom as its Student of the Year. From the left are Sherry Waldenstrom, club member John Anderson, Allison Waldenstrom and Carl Waldenstrom.

Waves triumph

The Antioch Waves held off defending champ Zion 325-316 to win the annual State Bank of Antioch Invitational at the Antioch Aqua Center last Sunday.

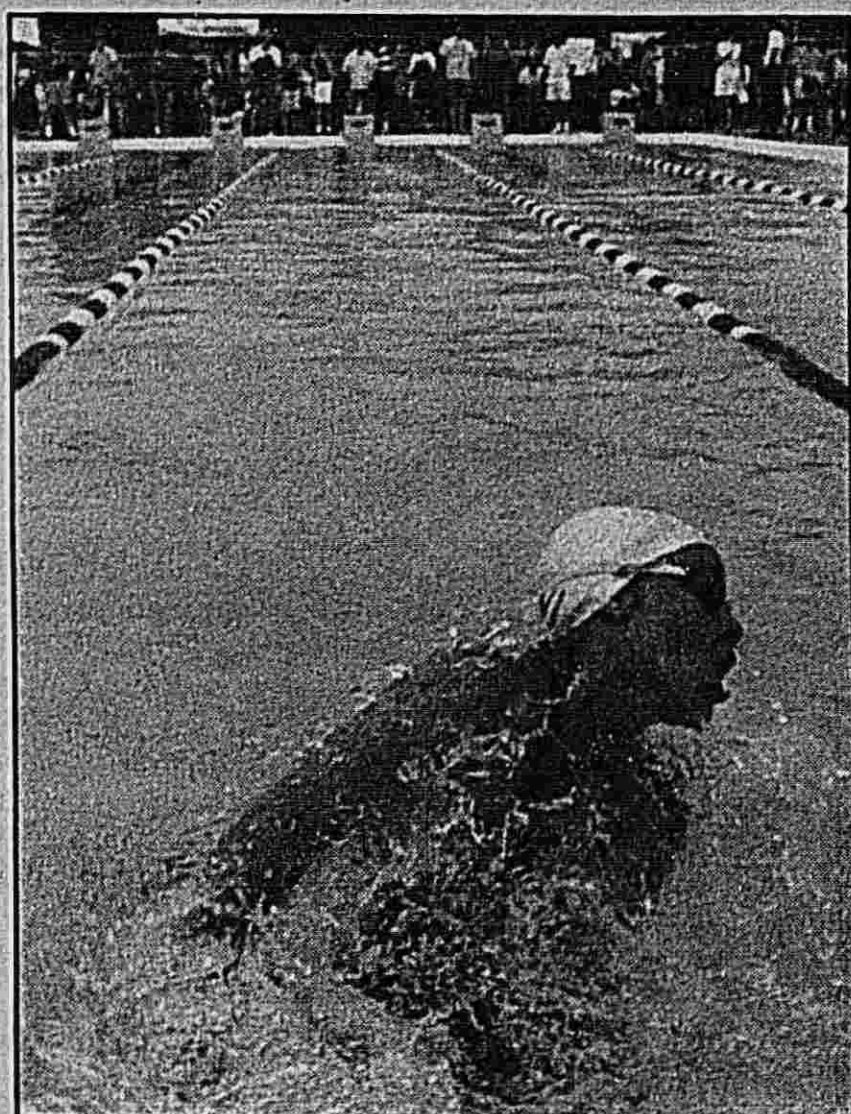

Gurnee and Lake Geneva, Wis. finished third and fourth, respectively.

Under the direction of Coach Gregg Henning, the Waves jumped to an early lead by winning all five medley relay events and building a 24-point advantage in the freestyle events.

The Zion Dolphins cut the lead to seven points later in the meet, but the Waves were able to hang on.

Lake Geneva's Jean Woods set a new mark, posting a :44.21 in the 12-and-under girls 66-yard butterfly.

The meet marked the 25th year the bank has sponsored the event and provided trophies and ribbons.
